Baby, It's Cold Outside

65 Below Zero Keeps Fairbanks Residents Inside

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — It's so cold they had to chop the cat out of the ice, the car radio goes "knock, knock" and propane torches shoot liquid instead of fire.

But Alaskans know how to cope with temperatures way below zero. They just stay indoors and go out only if it's necessary.

Central Alaska is in the middle of a frigid weather front that has sent temperatures tumbling like icicles in a spring thaw. It's been like that for three days.

However, it's expected to warm up today to temperatures of 25 to 20 below. Comfortable enough to celebrate Alaska's 10th year as a state today.

Thursday evening the mercury dropped to minus 56 and the overnight forecast called for a low of -65. The all-time low is -66 recorded on Jan. 14, 1934.

Schools have shut down but it's business as usual in downtown Fairbanks. About 42 inches of snow covers the ground although no new snow has fallen in a week.

Thick ice fog has cut visibility in some downtown areas to 10 feet and has disrupted airline schedules. It's caused by warm air rising from the ground which turns to fog as it hits the frigid air.

"Even with the minimal sunlight we get here. It's enough to warm the ground a bit and that causes the warm air to rise," Shane O'Neill, a Fairbanks resident, said Thursday.

The Weather Bureau said the average temperature for December was -17.7 or 10 degrees colder than normal. The highest temperature for the month was 36 degrees on Dec. 19. New Year's Day it was 60 below—four degrees below the record for the day set in 1965. It warmed up Thursday to -59—another record for the date.

O'Neill said firemen had to free a cat after its paws became stuck in ground ice.

"Apparently it licked its paws because they were so cold and when it set them down they froze to the ground," he said.

The cold also flattens car tires by decreasing the air pressure inside.

Even cars with special heaters that plug into outside outlets won't work.

"Unless they're inside a warm garage they won't start. I turned on my car radio today and it went knock, knock. It sounded like a hammer pounding on the thing. Later it warmed up and worked all right."

And precautions must be taken to guard against frostbitten ears. "It's very painful when they thaw out. They turn white, then after eight or 12 hours they're red and if you're lucky the outer skin won't peel off," O'Neill said.

Step To White House

Kennedy Beats Long For Senate's 'Whip'

Democrats Favor Him By 31 To 26

McCormack Holds House Speaker Job In Defeating Udall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts unseated Louisiana's Russell B. Long today as the assistant Democratic leader of the Senate.

Kennedy's come-from-behind victory could help to propel him along the road to the White House and gives Democratic liberals a greater voice in the Senate's high command.

At a conference of Democratic senators just before the start of the 91st Congress, Kennedy outpolled Long by a vote of 31 to 26, Senators reported.

Long, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, had held the post of assistant leader—or party whip—since 1965 when he was elected to succeed Hubert H. Humphrey.

The closed-door conference of Democratic senators was still in progress when a number of senators came out and passed the word to newsmen that Kennedy had won on the secret ballot.

The House settled its leadership problems Thursday with predictable results as Speaker John G. McCormack of Massachusetts easily defeated the unprecedented challenge of Arizona Democrat Morris Udall. Republican Gerald Ford of Michigan won re-election unopposed as minority leader.

The top Senate posts in each party remained in the hands of Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader, and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader, who were unopposed.

In an 11th hour challenge, Michigan's Robert P. Griffin announced for the chairmanship of the Republican Policy Committee against Colorado Gordon Allott.

Although the position has declined in influence in recent years, Robert A. Taft once used it in his climb to Senate power.

With leadership contests and other formalities out of the way, the House and Senate will meet in joint session Monday to canvass presidential election returns, then turn to an array of issues that could provide early fireworks.

Both houses have before them a proposal to raise their own pay and the salaries of top federal judges.

Damage Set At $75,000 In Park Fire

New lumber stored in a maintenance and supply building at Tomlinson Run State Park remained smoldering today, the result of a pre-dawn fire which destroyed the building and its entire contents.

Park Supt. N. T. Holbrook said the blaze was discovered early today by Herman Freeman, conservation aid at the park, who resides near by. Freeman, who was reporting for work, notified Holbrook of the fire which, already had consumed the structure. The blaze was believed to have begun about 12:30 a. m. and was discovered about 7 a. m., Holbrook said.

Included in the contents were a truck, two tractors, newly-painted wooden park directional signs, sections of a newly-built boat dock, various tools and equipments and lumber for the construction of a concession stand near the lake, Holbrook said.

Damage was estimated at $75,000 by the State Department of Natural Resources. Holbrook said he isn't sure if there is insurance on the building or its contents.

Holbrook said firemen weren't called because the fire had nearly exhausted itself by the time of its discovery.

Big 4 Eyes Soviet Peace Proposal

Gun Duel Breaks Silence On Lebanese-Israeli Line

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

The Lebanese government has informed Moscow that Soviet warships will be welcome in Lebanon and told the U.S. 6th Fleet to keep out, newspapers in Beirut said today. But authorities declined to confirm the reports.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli anger at the world's concern for Lebanon and its airplanes increased Thursday. Foreign Minister Abba Eban criticized the U.N. Security Council and the Sephardic chief rabbi attacked Pope Paul VI.

Meanwhile, the once quiet Lebanese-Israeli border erupted again in an artillery duel Thursday night, and the Big Four powers continued talking about a Soviet proposal for joint peace action.

Chief Rabbi Yitzhak Nissim, head of Israel's Sephardic community, criticized the Pope in his message to Lebanon expressing sympathy for the loss of 13 commercial aircraft destroyed by the Israeli commando raid on Beirut airport last Saturday.

In a broadcast over the state radio, Rabbi Nissim said the Pope had kept silent after the Nov. 22 bombing that killed 13 Israelis in a Jerusalem market and after the Dec. 26 Arab attack on an El Al airliner in Athens in which one Israeli died.

"Here," he said, "are clear signs of two tendencies on the part of the pontiff: A comprehensive war against the Jewish faith and against the country which God gave to His people."

"The Pope was not shocked over the shedding of blood... but rather over material things."

It was the second attack on the Pope in as many days. Dr. Zerah Warhaftig, minister of religious affairs, made a similar complaint.

At a news conference in Tel Aviv, Eban denounced the Security Council resolution condemning the Israeli raid and suggesting Lebanon is entitled to compensation.

"If Israel were wiped out completely by the Arabs, the Security Council would do and say nothing," Eban declared, referring to the Soviet veto which has blocked every attempt to censure the Arabs.

Asked about the recommendation for compensation, Eban said, "What is suggested by the Security Council by way of redress for the family of the man murdered in Athens?"

He accused the United Nations of being "hypocritical."

148 Aboard New York-Miami Flight

Airliner Hijacked To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A giant Eastern Airlines strato-jet with 148 persons aboard landed at Havana today under orders of a hijacker who took command of the nonstop New York-Miami flight.

Two Eastern turboprop planes were ordered to the airport at Varadero, Cuba, to retrieve the kidnapped passengers but no time for the flight was set, according to John Graffius, acting area manager for the Federal Aviation Administration.

The hijacked jet, which landed in Havana at 1:05 a.m. EST, was the first plane hijacked Cuba this year. Last year there were 20 successful hijackings to Cuba, 13 of them from the United States.

Eastern said its DC-81, largest commercial jetliner in America, carrying 140 passengers and eight crew members left New York's Kennedy Airport at 9:52 p.m. Thursday and was due in Miami at 12:30 a.m.

About an hour before Flight

401 was scheduled to land at Miami International Airport, Capt. Dennis Vanhuss radioed the Federal Aviation Administration at Jacksonville, Fla. FAA supervisor Harold Jensen said Vanhuss reported, "I am going to Havana."

The plane at that point was 60 miles east of Jacksonville. There was no immediate word on what went on aboard the plane.

Most hijackings have featured a man with a gun, who threatened a crew member and ordered the pilot to fly to Havana. None has resisted.

The FAA said the Eastern plane was cleared direct to Cuba soon after the hijacking was reported.

In addition to Vanhuss, the crew included First Officer J.R. Cooper and Second Officer T.F. Walby in the cockpit, all based in New York.

Stewardesses, working out of Miami, were Nancy Wilson, Cathy Geronimo, Linda Abolt, Kathy McCormick and Catherine Tolan.

After landing in Cuba, hijacked planes usually are flown to Miami by the crew while passengers go by bus to Varadero—a three-hour ride—and are

Heaviest South Viet Strikes In 3 Weeks

B52s Unload 1,500 Tons Of Bombs On Enemy Sites

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported the heaviest B52 strikes in South Vietnam in three weeks, with almost 1,000 tons of bombs dropped northwest of Saigon and nearly 500 tons on the matted U Minh Forest deep in the Mekong Delta.

Ground action remained light throughout the nation, although allied sweeps continued from the southern delta to an area southwest of Da Nang where American Marines and South Vietnamese troops were grinding away at Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces.

Signs of fresh enemy movement also were reported from two more old battle areas—the A Shau Valley west of Hue and the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Fliers from the carriers Coral Sea and Constellation hit the A Shau Valley with 31 sorties Thursday, the heaviest concentration of Naval air strength reported in one day since the bombing of North Vietnam was halted on Nov. 1.

U.S. headquarters reported also that enemy activity in the DMZ had increased sharply in the Christmas-New Year period, with more than 500 "indications of enemy activity" in the 12 days since Dec. 22.

Marine headquarters in Da Nang released an interim report on the massive cordon operation known as Taylor Common about 25 miles southwest of Da Nang. It said in the past month the Marines and South Vietnamese have killed 934 enemy troops.

The report said American and South Vietnamese losses have been light.

The road mining occurred about 20 miles to the south at a point where Vietnamese workers assemble for army transportation to their work. The mine exploded beneath an Army three-quarter-ton truck, killing 11 of the South Vietnamese crowded around. Another 16 were wounded, along with the two Americans in the truck.

U.S. headquarters reported three more big arms caches were turned up by allied sweeps today, adding to the mountain of war stores seized in recent months. American officers say that in 1968 U.S. and South Vietnamese forces captured enough weapons to equip more than six enemy infantry divisions. The Americans claim that this has been one of the chief reasons why enemy offensive operations have been curtailed.

Much of the booty has been taken in areas that previously had been touched only lightly by allied operations. Two of the supply dumps found today were in such areas—one in the U Minh Forest and the other a few miles from the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon.

The supplies seized included such items as 767 homemade grenades, 2,700 pounds of rice, cases of small arms and machine-gun ammunition and 4,000 yards of electric wire for field communications and for detonating mines.

Vehicle Tax Receives OK At Wellsville

Third and final reading was given legislation establishing a $5 annual motor vehicle tax during a special meeting of Wellsville Council Thursday night.

The measure was signed by Mayor William Daugherty and mailed to Columbus to meet the Sunday deadline.

Affirmative votes were cast last night by Councilmen Russell Keefe, Glenn Mathess, Jack Call and Nunzio Lombardozzi. Robert Taggart again voted "no."

Paul Todd, who had voted "yes" on second reading, was absent as was Brad Phillips, who is ill. Phillips had indicated his approval of the legislation earlier.

The $5 fee will be applied when new auto license plates are obtained.

State Asks New Bids For Lisbon St. Work

The Ohio Highway Department said today at Columbus it will open a new round of bids Jan. 28 at 10 a. m. on a project for widening, resurfacing and easing the curves on Lisbon St. (Route 267) from W. 8th St. to the city limits.

Two offers were received last Nov. 26, but both were rejected because they were more than $40,000 over the department's estimate of $288,000 for the project.

The project will cover a 1.6-mile stretch. Curves would be eased on the Lisbon St. Hill stretch. Specifications also call for new drainage facilities. The city's share of the job is $45,000, including $20,000 which was provided by county commissioners.

To Serve As Deputy To Dirksen

Scott Elected Assistant GOP Leader In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, a 68-year-old Pennsylvanian with backing from moderate Republican senators, was narrowly elected today as assistant GOP leader of the Senate.

Reports passed to Scott aides from the closed session of Republican senators said that Scott defeated Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, a conservative, 23 to 20.

Scott will serve as deputy to Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, re-elected without opposition.

GOP senators were also voting for a new policy committee chairman between Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado.

Dirksen, who will be 73 Saturday and has not been in the best of health in recent years, was unopposed for re-election to the leadership post he has held for 10 years.

Although the assistant leader often has an advantage in moving into the top leadership spot, Griffin's move seemed an attempt to project himself into a place where he could ultimately challenge for the No. 1 position. Scott earlier reported he had substantial backing from the 10 GOP freshmen and said "I have received more than enough assurances of support" to win the position.

He said the fight was not a liberal-conservative one and said his was "largely a centrist approach."

Hruska said his strength lay in his "record of work and record of diligence" and in the fact that he had been a longtime supporter of President-elect Nixon.

Only 45, Griffin has been a senator for less than three years but was one of the leaders of the successful fight last year against confirmation of Abe Fortas as chief justice.

He announced his candidacy Thursday, citing the suggestion recently by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., that one of the leadership positions go to one of the younger Republican senators.

Allott, 62 and a veteran of 14 years in the Senate. He announced some weeks ago for the policy committee chairmanship held by retiring Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper.

Both Hruska, 64, and Scott, 68, entered the race to succeed Thomas H. Kuchel of California as assistant leader. Kuchel was defeated for renomination last year.

Rusk Says LBJ Plans To Push Peace Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the Johnson administration will expand its efforts "between now and Jan. 20 to improve the prospects for peace in Vietnam and the Middle East."

In perhaps his final news conference after eight years in office, Rusk emphasized the threat to world peace posed by increasing violence in the Middle East.

And he called upon both Israel and the Arab governments to exercise restraint.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Santa Fe Railroad protested a court order that it pay $102,000 to Donald P. Ruckman an employee who claimed he suffered spinal, neck and head injuries when a freight train he was on struck a boulder in 1963.

The railroad went to court and won a new trial. Thursday it was ordered by a jury to pay Ruckman $266,237 damages.

To Serve As Deputy To Dirksen

Scott Elected Assistant GOP Leader In U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, a 68-year-old Pennsylvanian with backing from moderate Republican senators, was narrowly elected today as assistant GOP leader of the Senate.

Reports passed to Scott aides from the closed session of Republican senators said that Scott defeated Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, a conservative, 23 to 20.

Scott will serve as deputy to Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, re-elected without opposition.

GOP senators were also voting for a new policy committee chairman between Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado.

Dirksen, who will be 73 Saturday and has not been in the best of health in recent years, was unopposed for re-election to the leadership post he held for 10 years.

Although the assistant leader often has an advantage in moving into the top leadership spot, Griffin's move seemed an attempt to project himself into a place where he could ultimately challenge for the No. 1 position.

Scott earlier reported he had

$164,237 Mistake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Santa Fe Railroad protested a court order that it pay $102,000 to Donald P. Ruckman an employee who claimed he suffered spinal, neck and head injuries when a freight train he was on struck a boulder in 1963.

The railroad went to court and won a new trial. Thursday it was ordered by a jury to pay Ruckman $266,237 damages.

Educated, Broad Experience

Packard Seen Good Man To Fill Defense Position

NEW YORK (AP) — David Packard, named to be deputy secretary of defense in the Nixon administration, is as finely educated, broadly experienced and as thoroughly accomplished a man as likely could be found for the spot.

This, however, might not mean to the Senate, which must pass on his selection, that Packard is the man for the job. As some may view his appointment, these very accomplishments could create conflicts.

This is the background:

David Packard was a 27-year-old former engineer for General Electric back in 1939 when he and William Hewlett decided to go into business for themselves. They began in a garage with a few hundred dollars.

The two men had been classmates a few years earlier at Stanford, where Packard was Phi Beta Kappa and a member of the football and basketball teams. Hewlett went on to Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Packard went on to Colorado College and then took a graduate degree in electrical engineering at Stanford.

Asked in an interview why he wanted to go into business for himself, Packard gave a reason that contemporary young people will recognize. He did not feel, he said, that he could express himself in a large corporation as well as in his own business.

He proved his point. From 1939 to 1947 he and Hewlett operated a successful partnership in the manufacture of electronic measuring devices. Then they incorporated and began an extraordinary expansion.

By 1956 their annual sales were $20 million and net income close to $1.8 million. Sales have risen in every year since then, reaching $200 million by 1966 and $266 million last year, when $20.6 million was earned.

Hewlett-Packard now employs about 13,000 workers in the United States, Japan, Switzerland, Germany, the Netherlands, Mexico and several South American countries. It is a world leader in precision electronics.

As one of the foremost companies in its field, Hewlett-Packard naturally did business with the biggest electronics customer, the U.S. government. Perhaps as much as one-third of its sales involve government purchases.

Somehow, as seems true of many executives, Packard found time also to serve as a director of General Dynamics, U.S. Steel, and Pacific Gas & Electric. He was associated also with Chase Manhattan Bank, one of the world's largest.

He also contributed time to activities that brought no immediate income, such as the American Management Association and the Japan-California Association, an international group that seeks improved trade relations.

He became a trustee of his alma mater as well as of Colorado College and an executive of the Stanford Research Institute, where raw research is turned into useful products and services.

His time and managerial abilities were spread even more through association with the National Merit Scholarship Program and as a member of the Board of Education in Palo Alto, Calif., site of the company's headquarters.

His interest in education results partly from his role as a father of four, one of whom is a professor of humanities at the University of California at Los Angeles.

As a low key, soft spoken administrator, some consider Packard a model. Those who know him consider him also to be a thoroughly modern man, aware of the problems of workers and of students who soon will be his employees, unafraid of change and not overly impressed by his millions.

In order to take the defense job Packard has devised this plan:

—Place his $300 million of stock in a charitable trust for the entire period of his stay in government. Design as head of his company. Sever ties with other corporations. Sell stock in companies with government business.

It would seem, then, that this highly qualified man would be ideal for the job. Or would he? Nagging doubts will be expressed by some senators. As a member of the military-industrial complex, they might ask Packard if he:

Should sell all his stock in Hewlett-Packard? Can be impartial even with his stock held in trust? Would find it possible to be impartial to his own firm even if he sold all his stock?

Those who ask the question then must ask perhaps even larger ones:

Should the U.S. government and its people be denied the services of so accomplished an executive? What penalties must an individual accept because of his success in life?

Surgeon Plans To Perform Heart Operation On Puppy

NEW YORK (AP) — The surgeon who directed a heart and kidney transplant on New Year's Eve has agreed to perform open-heart surgery on a German shepherd puppy as a gesture of gratitude to the many animals used in heart research.

Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, surgeon-in-chief at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, plans to make X-ray studies today of Kai, the four-month-old pet of Allan and Kevin Fogel, 8-year-old twins of Brooklyn.

On Tuesday, Dr. Lillehei directed a 60-man team in transplanting the heart and kidneys of a 48-year-old psychoanalyst to three recipients.

Dr. Lillehei, a former teacher of Dr. Christian Barnard who performed the first human heart transplant, volunteered to perform the open-heart operation "on behalf of the many dogs who have served to benefit mankind in helping develop these techniques."

"Dogs have been the backbone of open-heart surgery," he added, explaining that their hearts are "almost identical" to the human heart.

Dr. Lillehei read about the dog's plight in a letter to The Daily News from Kai's owners.

In the letter, the young boys said their veterinarian had told them that Kai must be put to sleep because he had a congenital heart defect which can only be cured by surgery.

Kai was examined by Dr. Lillehei and admitted to the hospital's kennel for experimental animals Thursday afternoon.

Castro Hints He, Soviet Have Ignored Differences

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's speech Thursday marking the 10th anniversary of his revolution indicated he and the leaders of the Soviet Union have decided to ignore some of their major differences.

Speaking at a rally in Havana attended by an estimated million Cubans, the Cuban prime minister praised Cuba's ties with the "Socialist camp and especially its solidarity with the Soviet Union."

A few months ago Castro was accusing the Kremlin of being niggardly with him, but on Thursday he said Soviet aid had "been decisive for this country in these difficult years."

Relations between Castro and the Kremlin had ranged from cool to heated in recent years because the Cuban leader kept on proclaiming his determination to export revolution to overthrow various Latin American governments with which the Soviet Union was trying to improve economic relations.

Relations between Castro and Moscow reached their lowest point since the 1962 missile crisis when more than 40 Soviet-line Cuban Communists were purged last February. At the time, the Castro government accused the Soviet embassy of working against it.

The improvement of relations apparently began with a speech Castro made in August supporting the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. Castro for some months also has hardly mentioned encouragement of guerrilla warfare and his regime seems to have turned inward to concentrate on its economic difficulties.

This is a course the Soviets, Cuba's biggest financial supporter, have been urging for some time although there still is disagreement over downgrading of material incentives for Cuban workers and the failure of Cuban planners to solve the island's food problems.

Students of the Cuban revolution consider it unlikely that Castro ever will abandon his pro-guerrilla policy for peaceful revolution advocated by the Soviets. For example, banners saluting Che Guevara, Cuba's slain revolutionary idols and his slogans urging the creation of more Vietnams were prominent around the platform from which Castro spoke.

Cuba's economic problems were emphasized by Castro's announcement during his 2 1/4-hour speech of sugar rationing for Cuba's eight million people.

Hancock Sheriff Issues Report

The annual report of the Hancock County sheriff's office showed 259 accidents investigated during 1968, including three fatalities.

There were 156 persons injured, with 408 cars involved. The report placed total damage to all cars at $236,685 and to property other than the vehicles $3,500.

Arrests made during the year totaled 191. There were no homicides.

Gilbert Miller, Noted Theatrical Producer, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Gilbert Miller, whose theater productions sparkled from London to Broadway for five decades, is dead at age 84.

The dean of New York theatrical producers died Thursday in his Park Avenue apartment. A business associate, George Banay, said Miller had been enfeebled for some time.

Miller's last production, "The White House," starring Helen Hayes, was offered three years ago, a half-century after he made his debut as a producer with "Daddy Long Legs" at London's Duke of York Theater. Services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at St. Vincent's Roman Catholic Church.

Miss Hayes also starred in Miller's greatest hit, "Victoria Regina" by Laurence Housman, which opened in New York on Aug. 31, 1936 and eventually grossed more than $2.5 million.

Other hits included: Somerset Maugham's "The Constant Wife," Philip Barry's "The Animal Kingdom," Dylan Thomas' "Under Milk Wood" and "The Cocktail Party" by T.S. Eliot.

Pueblo Skipper Still Restricted For Treatment

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Of the 82 freed USS Pueblo crewmen, only the skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, remains restricted for medical treatment in the San Diego Naval Hospital.

"He was carrying a big load and just needs rest," said a Navy spokesman.

Bucher and nine of his crew will receive the Purple Heart medal in ceremonies Saturday for wounds suffered when the intelligence ship was captured by the North Koreans, the Navy said Thursday. The Pueblo crew was released after 11 months.

Medical examinations and debriefing sessions with Navy investigators seeking details of the capture and imprisonment have been routine for crewmen.

Bucher stays in a secluded area on the sixth floor of the hospital, recovering from what the Navy spokesman described as physical and emotional exhaustion. His wife, Rose, is a frequent visitor.

Woman Hospitalized After Mishap At Home

LISBON — A Lisbon woman found lying on the floor of her home is "fairly good" today at Salem City Hospital with an injury to her right hip and elbow.

Mrs. Clyde Donnalley, 72, of 117 S. Beaver St. was found by Lisbon volunteer firemen, who answered a call to the address. An ambulance took Mrs. Donnalley to the hospital.

Hospital authorities said this morning it has not yet been determined what caused the injuries.

Woman Hospitalized After Mishap At Home

LISBON — A Lisbon woman found lying on the floor of her home is "fairly good" today at Salem City Hospital with an injury to her right hip and elbow.

Mrs. Clyde Donnalley, 72, of 117 S. Beaver St. was found by Lisbon volunteer firemen, who answered a call to the address. An ambulance took Mrs. Donnalley to the hospital.

Hospital authorities said this morning it has not yet been determined what caused the injuries.

New Resolutions For 1969

The start of a new year traditionally calls for some evaluation of what has been done in the past and establishing objectives for the future.

Individuals draw up lists of resolutions, corporations prepare budgets, government officials shape another set of cautious promises.

In 1968, the East Liverpool area needs some new goals and a reapplication of energetic work to a few old ones.

NO SMALL amount of progress was made in growth and development during 1968, but there remain too many enduring aspects of community life in which accomplishments have been small or lagging, in which responsibilities are not being met, in which avowed obligations are being ignored.

Certainly more has to be done to shore up the economy of the district, with new efforts in industrial development and a greater cultivation of the commercial potential of the city.

Closer relationships between townships and city, reappraisal of the education program, construction of a new Ohio River bridge, geared up implementation of city planning, stirring of creative imagination in civic projects, improvement of community spirit, and enlargement of cultural and recreational programs should have priority rating as 1969 targets.

Far too many members of officialdom are caught up in traditional patterns of thinking and of doing things. Too many clubs and organizations have settled into traditions and habits in which their original purposes have been forgotten. Too many institutions have solidified into rigid structures inadequate to meet the demands of changing times.

THE PRESS of competition from other businesses, other industries, other commercial centers, other school districts, other communities will increase as the economy tightens in the months ahead.

This should be the year that new thinking is devoted to how this competition can be met cooperatively and constructively to the benefit of every one in the East Liverpool area. It is past the time to settle for the same old resolutions, most of which were broken last year.

We need a new set of resolutions and a new determination to fulfill them.

Congress And The Dollar

The first session of the 91st Congress becomes official today and finds senators and representatives facing a lengthy list of national ills that require varying degrees of attention.

None will be so pressing as the area of economics. Without a sound dollar, domestic problems will be compounded and international reverberations will be shattering.

The new Congress must tread the shaky ground between overspending which induces spiraling inflation and underspending which spawns a slow motion business picture leading to a recession.

Tax Foundation, Inc., notes that the Senate and House, during the second session of the 90th Congress, granted new spending authority totaling $128.4 billion. That is equivalent to $432.3 million per day in Congress, or $80.4 million per hour.

And this spending record came from a Congress that was supposedly cost-conscious.

The consequences of the free-wheeling spending tactics can be seen in the ever-increasing operating deficit, the growing national debt and rising taxes.

No taxpayer expects the U.S. government to operate without a reasonable budgetary increase annually. It just isn't feasible. But the spend-tax theory has to end some place. It cannot go on forever.

From where we sit, the time to set up a spending priority program and begin the job of re-establishing confidence in the dollar is right now.

The new Congress has no greater challenge before it than to rebuild a foundation for the American dollar.

GAO Does It Again

The General Accounting Office (GAO) has caught the U.S. military establishment napping again.

This time the GAO uncovered the theft of at least 5.5 million gallons of aircraft and other fuels ticketed for American military operations in Thailand during 1967.

THE INVESTIGATORS were unable to determine exactly how many gallons of petroleum products had disappeared, or to fix the full extent of the financial loss to the government.

The GAO said bribery, forgery, collusion and government laxity led to the massive thefts of fuels intended for American military installations.

No mention was made of possible effects on military operations because the fuel was stolen, or if the fuel ended up in the hands of the enemy.

The Defense Department, in a reply attached to the GAO report, said "action has been taken against U.S. personnel ranging from fines to five years at hard labor in one instance."

But the 10-man GAO team refused to let the matter end with the Defense Department's contention that all proper action had been taken.

The GAO recommended the Pentagon tighten up procedures which the report said were: "weak, deficient and did not adequately protect the government's interest."

The report admitted some steps have been taken to keep a closer check on the supply network but was adamant in its position that "improved procedures and practices are still required."

THE FUEL THEFT black eye given the Pentagon by the GAO goes with the shiner delivered a few months ago when it was uncovered by the GAO that the Defense Department was being bilked of millions by contracting for items that could be purchased for many times less elsewhere.

Discoveries like these by the GAO must make the American taxpayer wonder if the Defense Department hasn't been getting more of the budget dollar than it really needs.

Perhaps a little less operating capital would make the department adopt a more cautious attitude in its spending habits.

America Shows Its Heart

A few days ago the United States, without fanfare, became officially involved in the Nigeria-Biafra struggle.

President Johnson, no longer able to put off a decision, virtually donated eight huge C-97-G Boeing air cargo planes to be used to shuttle food to millions of victims of the Nigerian war.

It was not an easy political decision for the Johnson administration. On a humanitarian basis, there is no question but to help starving people.

BUT THE FACT REMAINS that the United States recognizes Nigeria as a sovereign nation which makes Biafra a rebellious area seeking to secede.

United States has been hesitant to act for fear of losing influence with Africa's 42 independent nations where support is overwhelmingly in favor of Nigeria's federal military regime.

One of the primary fears shared by all African nations is that once secession is accepted or achieved through war, it will spread like wildfire across the continent.

From the outset of the war 18 months ago,

Biafran civilians have been pawns. Nigeria's Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon has hoped the starvation plight of Biafran women and children would force Lieut. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu to relent in his attempts to secede.

But the British-trained Biafran leader has continued to fight hoping world opinion would force Nigeria to recognize Biafra as an entity and open the door for relief to the starving war victims.

RELIEF AGENCIES have been able to get some food into Biafra by night flights but the attempts have been sporadic because of political bickering.

The U.S. planes, four to a consortium of American Catholic, Protestant and Jewish relief agencies and four to the International Red Cross, could quadruple the amount of supplies now going to Biafra. They could, that is, if used during the day and that remains to be worked out.

Some observers feel the leasing of planes is just the first step—and that others will follow.

The decision to get involved, despite political considerations, says something about America that all its citizens can be proud of.

The Well-Behaved Soviet Sailors

A good-will visit of a Soviet naval squadron to the East African port of Mombasa, Kenya, apparently was executed flawlessly in keeping with the Russian plan to gain respect, influence and power in the Indian Ocean.

The Soviet sailors were very impressive, behaviorwise.

One local businessman observed that the Russians didn't visit the bars. "And they don't want our girls," he said.

THE RUSSIANS' BEHAVIOR in this respect afforded quite a contrast with the naval personnel of other nations, an official of a transport firm said.

"When the Royal Navy or the United States fleet hit the town, they leave a trail of chaos . . . you see sailors rolling through the streets at all hours of the day or night.

"But these Russians are so serious and well-behaved they could be from another planet. It must be the first fleet in history to call on our city without giving employment to the local prostitutes."

Tradesmen formerly complained that Russian sailors were very tight-fisted with their money, unlike the free-spending seafarers of other nations. This time the men from the Russian guided missile ships visited the shops and came out laden with parcels, returning to their ships before dark when the fun usually starts in seaports.

There was much surprise and speculation in nonaligned Kenya relative to the Russians' visit. Some observers saw in the visit a sign of a new Soviet buildup in the Indian Ocean aimed at pre-empting the possibility of China expanding its influence in the area.

OTHERS BELIEVE the Soviets are moving into the power vacuum left by Britain's withdrawal from Aden, coupled with closure of the Suez Canal during the Arab-Israeli war in June of 1967.

Regardless of their motive, the Russians are impressive. One Mombasan, who has witnessed the conduct of sailors from many nations during their visits to his city, said:

"If ever there was war, I am sure now who would win it."

The War In 1969

Will the Vietnam War end during 1969? Everything depends on what is meant by the word "end." If it is assumed that there will be a complete cessation of hostilities, this is a mistaken idea.

What can be expected is a slowing down of the military operations and a gradual withdrawal of United States troops from South Vietnam. But the decision to do this will be made only when a policy has been announced that will warn the North Vietnamese they must adhere to any agreement reached or take the consequences.

ALREADY THE WAR operations are diminishing in the sense that the North Vietnamese are curtailing their broad efforts and confining themselves to various skirmishes. They are so anxious to see the United States pull out that they are willing to convey the impression of their intention to maintain peace in the future after the American forces go home.

But it is recognized by military men that, when the North Vietnamese troops are taken out of South Vietnam, they do not have to go very far — only to Laos and Cambodia. They have bases in these two countries and their forces could be returned very quickly to South Vietnam if the Hanoi government suddenly resumed its attempt to conquer South Vietnam.

This means that the United States would have to conduct a gradual withdrawal, possibly 100,000 or 150,000 troops in 1969, while still maintaining a substantial force in 1970 in order to assure prompt resistance if Hanoi violates the peace pact.

One big question is whether the South Vietnamese could get along without the help of the United States. American generals say that ultimately this condition can be attained but that it is not possible to achieve such a status in the next few months. It will take a year or two to complete the training of the South Vietnamese.

When one reads the article written recently for "Foreign Affairs" by Henry A. Kissinger of Harvard, who has been selected by President-elect Nixon to be an adviser on national security affairs and foreign policy questions, a clearer idea is obtained of what might be anticipated at the negotiating table. Mr. Kissinger writes:

"Unilateral withdrawal, or a settlement which unintentionally amounts to the same thing, could lead to the erosion of restraints and to an even more dangerous international situation. No American policymaker can simply dismiss these dangers."

Mr. Kissinger is well aware that a "coalition government" such as the United States agreed to in China in the late 1940's, and which gave the Communists their chance to take over that country, is a mistake that ought not to be repeated.

He concedes that the United States has been applying a great deal and perhaps too much pressure against the Saigon government in connection with the Paris negotiations. On this point he says:

"The result may be the complete demoralization of Saigon, profound domestic tensions within the United States and a prolonged stalemate or a resumption of the war."

Mr. Kissinger concludes that there has to be some kind of "mixed commission" set up for the purpose of developing and supervising the political process by which reintegration of the country will be sought, including free elections.

His idea is that there must be an international presence to enforce good faith and that the United States cannot be expected to rely on Hanoi's word that the removal of American troops will mean permanent relief of Communist pressures on South Vietnam. He feels an "international force" will be required.

But such an "international force" will require participation by the United States, which would continue to strengthen the South Vietnamese army and then permit a "gradual withdrawal of some American forces."

THE UNITED NATIONS has been helpless in the whole Vietnam controversy. This is not because of any defect in the charter or the machinery of the organization. It is due entirely to the power wielded by the Soviet government, which has blocked all efforts to deal fairly and objectively with the Vietnam problem.

Once the Moscow regime, however, agrees to a settlement of the Vietnam War, an international force derived from the United Nations could certainly watch over the situation in Vietnam and maintain peace.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The East Liverpool City Hospital Association re-elected Joseph M. Wells of Newell Heights as president.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Thomas Bailey and Harry Lytton were re-elected president and chief, respectively, of the Newell Volunteer Fire Department.

The year 1948 produced one of the longest growing seasons in the county in some time and was above average in temperature and rainfall, L. H. Copeland, weather observer at Millport, reported.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Ohio State Employment Service reported that unemployment in the East Liverpool district reached its highest level in five years during 1958.

Year's Top Labor Stories

WASHINGTON — A columnist must have the strength of his predictions as well as his convictions.

But as a charter member of the International Crystal Ball Gazers Union, I warn that our constitution states quite plainly that we are not liable to confrontations, and are not responsible for fulfillment of any forecast. Protected by this inalienable right and encouraged by confirmation of 90 per cent of last year's prophecies — including the flat statement that Walter Reuther would bolt the AFL-CIO in May — here is what this columnist foresees in 1969:

Victor Riesel

There will be crippling municipal strikes paralyzing public services in scores of cities. The citizenry will scream, but President Nixon will not push for restrictive strike laws. He'll appoint a commission "to study" the impact of "public sector" stoppages . . . His relationship with men of labor will be more correct than cordial, but he will not antagonize them.

The new President won't rock the boat. He'll operate on the "law of the situation." Safest inside analysis of Dick Nixon is one of his friends' prediction that he'll develop a hard line on the foreign front and a soft line at home, though his problem now is to smash George Wallace's third party . . . Mr. Nixon's envoy to the black community probably will be Jim Farmer, former director of CORE.

THIS YEAR WILL mark the end of the mass inner-city riots and the beginning of the most sensitive confrontation of the century. Black caucuses will balloon into black unions, which then will tackle not only the teachers' federations and associations, but also the traditional service and construction unions. Decentralization and community control will be the slogans — demands by black communities for separate police, health, sanitation, transportation, education and markets departments in such areas as Watts and Harlem.

Personalities: FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover will stay on well past his 75th birthday (Jan. 1, 1970). He already has Dick Nixon's approval for an open-end term.

HEW Secretary Robert Finch will be the target of the black militants. Finch plans to deal only with such moderates as the NAACP's Roy Wilkins and the Urban League's Whitney Young . . . Lyndon Johnson will leave the White House without labor's unanimous affection. Of "the crowd," only George Meany still is deeply attached to LBJ, who'll travel as soon as he can to Latin America, Turkey, and Iran. The labor people will do little to help him build that library . . .

Ambassador to Spain Robert (Sidewalks of New York) Wagner and former Ambassador Arthur Goldberg will be rivals for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The race for position starts yesterday . . . Lawyer-literate

Ted Sorensen has the railside track in the maneuvering for the New York Senate nomination . . . Ted Kennedy, still shaken by the assassinations, will make no move for party control. But brother-in-law Steve Smith can have the nomination against the big city's John Lindsay . . .

WALTER REUTHER'S new Alliance for Labor Action (ALA) will limp into 1970, probably without its ally, the Teamsters Brotherhood.

Why? Because Jimmy Hoffa will stay in prison, but will find his cell block government-in-exile more myth than matter . . . When the Supreme Court turns down his final appeal later this year, the "teamos" will name a new president and apply for readmission to the AFL-CIO.

This will give George Meany's big labor federation a grand, aggressive total of 16 million members, the biggest federation in the non-Communist world. Like J. Edgar Hoover, Mr. Meany will stay on past his 75th birthday and be reelected president at the next AFL-CIO national convention in Atlantic City . . . But at least six, perhaps eight, of the movement's high command will be new faces . . . Then the big push for farm workers starts, especially on the big citrus ranches and "factories in the fields," where the federation already has spent over two million dollars.

VICE PRESIDENT Ted Agnew, sharp critic of the poverty program, will get a boost in March, when the General Accounting Office reports vast mishandling of Community Action funds — by the tens of millions of dollars . . . Neutralist Secretary of Labor Shultz will not be able to stay aloof from the coming strike wave. It will sweep in on him and the White House towards the year end . . .

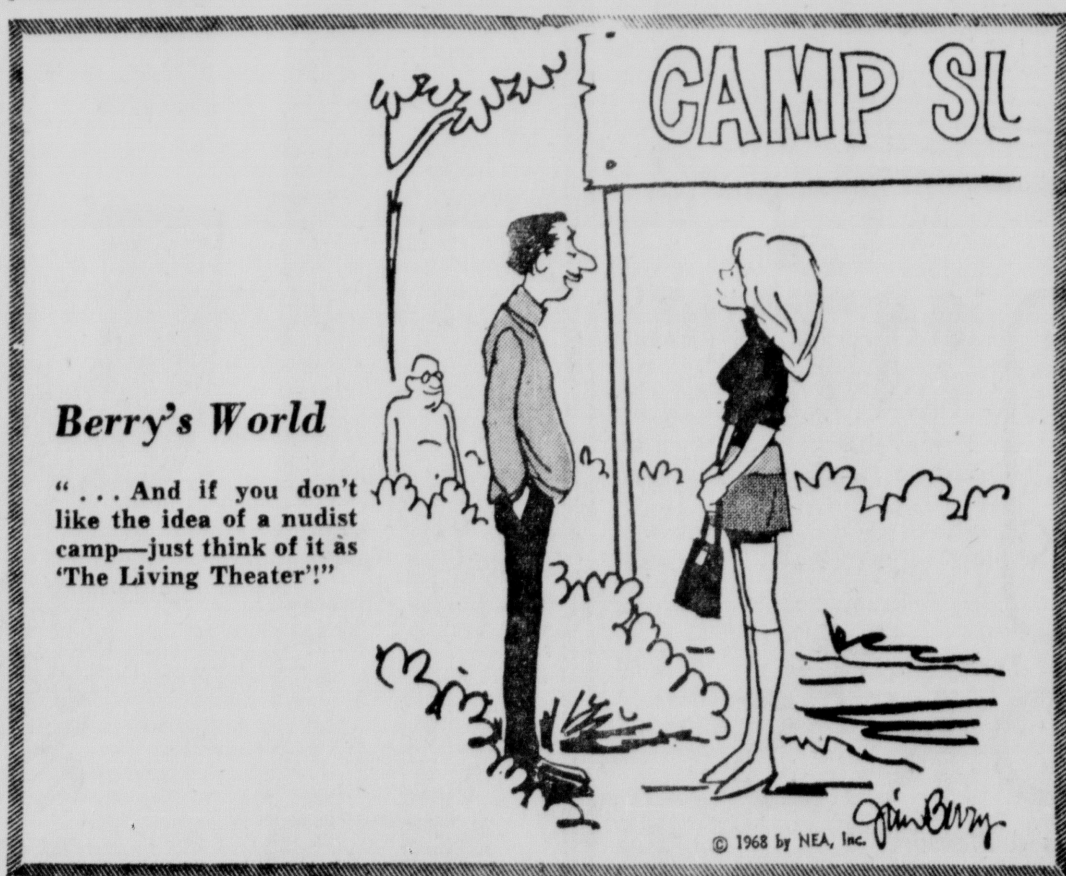

Industrialists will be disappointed in Mr. Nixon. He will not toughen the National Labor Relations Board or advocate labor courts. He will not back up Secretary of Commerce Stans if this department head moves strongly into labor relations as the businessman's friend . . . So look to some of the big industries to devise new strike insurance plans . . .

Unless the New Jersey Mafia probe is throttled by terrorized politicians, it will lead to the highest national circles, via New York and Miami. This is a circuitous route to the capital, but that's exactly where it leads . . .

There will be wide probing of the private pension funds, which now top $100 billion . . . and then new protective laws . . .

President Nixon, like Britain's laborite Harold Wilson, will use light money to create some unemployment to cool off overheated inflation. This will hit skilled crafts more than the ghettos.

Mr. Nixon's crises will multiply, but not at home. Abroad, the year will see furious preparations for the turmoil in '70 which will follow the peace in Vietnam. At home, there will be consultation, consolidation and quieter confrontations.

Ted Sorensen has the railside track in the maneuvering for the New York Senate nomination. . . . Ted Kennedy, still shaken by the assassinations, will make no move for party control. But brother-in-law Steve Smith can have the nomination against the big city's John Lindsay. . . .

WALTER REUTHER'S new Alliance for Labor Action (ALA) will limp into 1970, probably without its ally, the Teamsters Brotherhood.

Why? Because Jimmy Hoffa will stay in prison, but will find his cell block government-in-exile more myth than matter. . . . When the Supreme Court turns down his final appeal later this year, the "teamsters" will name a new president and apply for readmission to the AFL-CIO.

This will give George Meany's big labor federation a grand, aggressive total of 16 million members, the biggest federation in the non-Communist world. Like J. Edgar Hoover, Mr. Meany will stay on past his 75th birthday and be reelected president at the next AFL-CIO national convention in Atlantic City. . . . But at least six, perhaps eight, of the movement's high command will be new faces. . . . Then the big push for farm workers starts, especially on the big citrus ranches and "factories in the fields," where the federation already has spent over two million dollars.

VICE PRESIDENT Ted Agnew, sharp critic of the poverty program, will get a boost in March, when the General Accounting Office reports vast mishandling of Community Action funds — by the tens of millions of dollars. . . . Neutralist Secretary of Labor Shultz will not be able to stay aloof from the coming strike wave. It will sweep in on him and the White House towards the year end. . . .

Industrialists will be disappointed in Mr. Nixon. He will not toughen the National Labor Relations Board or advocate labor courts. He will not back up Secretary of Commerce Stans if this department head moves strongly into labor relations as the businessman's friend. . . . So look to some of the big industries to devise new strike insurance plans. . . .

Unless the New Jersey Mafia probe is throttled by terrorized politicians, it will lead to the highest national circles, via New York and Miami. This is a circuitous route to the capital, but that's exactly where it leads. . . .

There will be wide probing of the private pension funds, which now top $100 billion. . . . and then new protective laws. . . .

President Nixon, like Britain's laborite Harold Wilson, will use tight money to create some unemployment to cool off overheated inflation. This will hit skilled crafts more than the ghettos.

Mr. Nixon's crises will multiply, but not at home. Abroad, the year will see furious preparations for the turmoil in '70 which will follow the peace in Vietnam. At home, there will be consultation, consolidation and quieter confrontations.

The War In 1969

Will the Vietnam War end during 1969? Everything depends on what is meant by the word "end." If it is assumed that there will be a complete cessation of hostilities, this is a mistaken idea.

What can be expected is a slowing down of the military operations and a gradual withdrawal of United States troops from South Vietnam. But the decision to do this will be made only when a policy has been announced that will warn the North Vietnamese they must adhere to any agreement reached or take the consequences.

ALREADY THE WAR operations are diminishing in the sense that the North Vietnamese are curtailing their broad efforts and confining themselves to various skirmishes. They are so anxious to see the United States pull out that they are willing to convey the impression of their intention to maintain peace in the future after the American forces go home.

But it is recognized by military men that, when the North Vietnamese troops are taken out of South Vietnam, they do not have to go very far — only to Laos and Cambodia. They have bases in these two countries and their forces could be returned very quickly to South Vietnam if the Hanoi government suddenly resumed its attempt to conquer South Vietnam.

This means that the United States would have to conduct a gradual withdrawal, possibly 100,000 or 150,000 troops in 1969, while still maintaining a substantial force in 1970 in order to assure prompt resistance if Hanoi violates the peace pact.

One big question is whether the South Vietnamese could get along without the help of the United States. American generals say that ultimately this condition can be attained but that it is not possible to achieve such a status in the next few months. It will take a year or two to complete the training of the South Vietnamese.

When one reads the article written recently for "Foreign Affairs" by Henry A. Kissinger of Harvard, who has been selected by President-elect Nixon to be an adviser on national-security affairs and foreign policy questions, a clearer idea is obtained of what might be anticipated at the negotiating table. Mr. Kissinger writes:

"Unilateral withdrawal, or a settlement which unintentionally amounts to the same thing, could lead to the erosion of restraints and to an even more dangerous international situation. No American policymaker can simply dismiss these dangers."

Mr. Kissinger is well aware that a "coalition government" such as the United States agreed to in China in the late 1940's, and which gave the Communists their chance to take over that country, is a mistake that ought not to be repeated.

He concedes that the United States has been applying a great deal and perhaps too much pressure against the Saigon government in connection with the Paris negotiations. On this point he says:

"The result may be the complete demoralization of Saigon, profound domestic tensions within the United States and a prolonged stalemate or a resumption of the war."

Mr. Kissinger concludes that there has to be some kind of "mixed commission" set up for the purpose of developing and supervising the political process by which reintegration of the country will be sought, including free elections.

His idea is that there must be an international presence to enforce good faith and that the United States cannot be expected to rely on Hanoi's word that the removal of American troops will mean permanent relief of Communist pressures on South Vietnam. He feels an "international force" will be required.

But such an "international force" will require participation by the United States, which would continue to strengthen the South Vietnamese army and then permit a "gradual withdrawal of some American forces."

THE UNITED NATIONS has been helpless in the whole Vietnam controversy. This is not because of any defect in the charter or the machinery of the organization. It is due entirely to the power wielded by the Soviet government, which has blocked all efforts to deal fairly and objectively with the Vietnam problem.

Once the Moscow regime, however, agrees to a settlement of the Vietnam War, an international force derived from the United Nations could certainly watch over the situation in Vietnam and maintain peace.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The East Liverpool City Hospital Association re-elected Joseph M. Wells of Newell Heights as president.

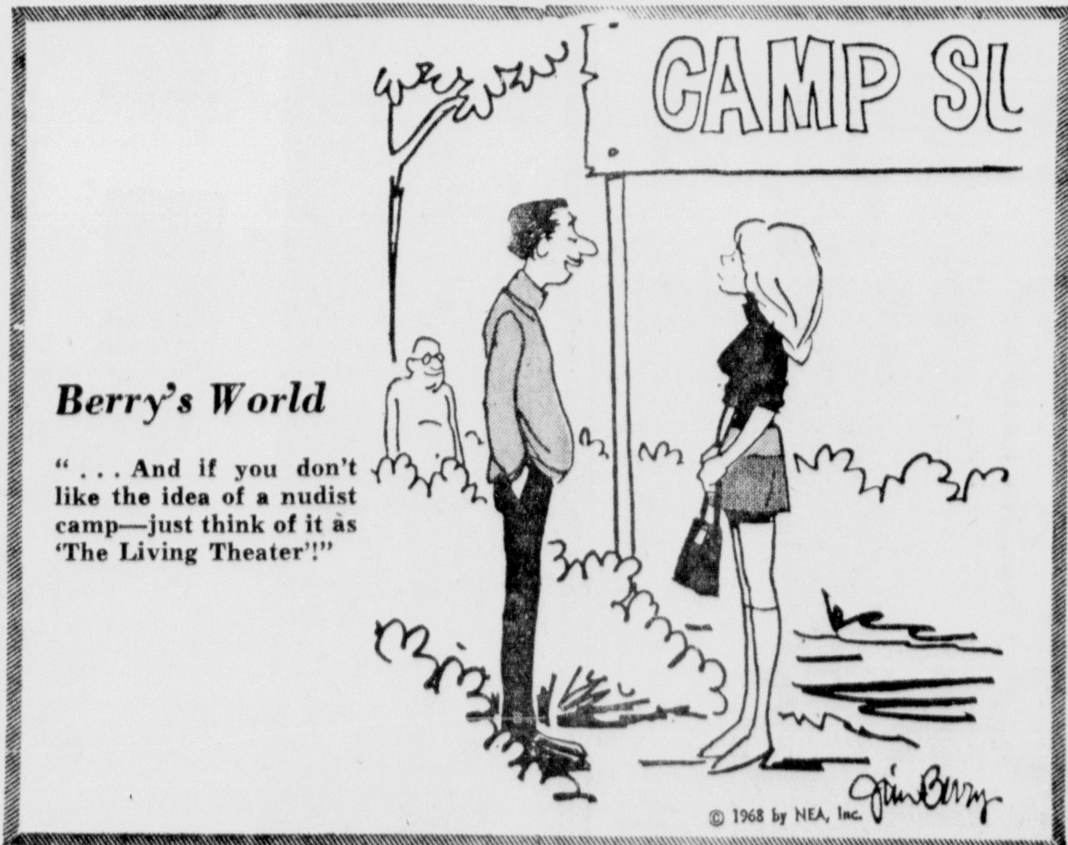

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Thomas Bailey and Harry Lytton were re-elected president and chief, respectively, of the Newell Volunteer Fire Department.

The year 1948 produced one of the longest growing seasons in the county in some time and was above average in temperature and rainfall. L. H. Copeland, weather observer at Millport, reported.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Ohio State Employment Service reported that unemployment in the East Liverpool district reached its highest level in five years during 1958.

Here's U.S. Senate Freshman Class

WASHINGTON (AP) — He's 47, a lawyer with at least six years experience in politics, is married and has three children, served in World War II and last November won a hard, close fight.

He has little reputation nationally. His political beliefs tend to be moderate.

Who is he? The newest member of what often is called the world's most exclusive club—the U.S. Senate.

This is a composite picture of the 15-member Class of '69 that is sworn in today. Here is a breakdown on the individuals:

William B. Saxbe, a long-shot last spring when he agreed to run for the seat held by the veteran Democrat Frank J. Lausche, is 52, and had been Ohio's Republican attorney general since 1963.

Lausche lost in the Democratic primary to former Rep. John J. Gilligan, and Saxbe beat Gilligan in November.

Elected a member of the Ohio General Assembly in 1946, Saxbe was speaker in 1947-48. The Saxbes have three children.

Former Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., defeated Democrat Joseph S. Clark, a two-term thrice-married, 66-year-old Senate dove whom Schweiker termed a "drawing room liberal."

Schweiker, 42, a four-term liberal-moderate is married and the father of four children. He's a businessman, a Navy veteran and 1950 Phi Beta Kappa graduate.

Alan M. Cranston, 54, leaves a Los Angeles real estate and investment business to become California's new Democratic senator.

A foreign news correspondent in the 1930's, he wrote and published an anti-Nazi version of Mein Kampf that sold 500,000 copies in the United States. He was an Army private during World War II.

In 1958, he was the first Democrat elected Controller of California in 72 years. In 1964, he was beaten by Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary, for the California Democratic senatorial nomination. He and his wife have two sons.

Maryland Republican Charles W. Mathias, moved his office Thursday across the Capitol Plaza from the House to the Senate side.

Mathias, 46, defeated Democrat Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, 45, in November. He is often called a liberal or moderate and is considered an excellent compromiser in such controversies as open housing. He was recognized in the House for his work on civil rights legislation and anticrime bills.

He is married and has two sons.

Edward J. Gurney, who will be 55 Jan. 12, is Florida's first Republican senator since Reconstruction. A Maine-born conservative he won the Senate seat vacated by Democrat George A. Smathers—by a big margin victory over Democrat LeRoy Collins, former governor. Gurney served in the Army during World War II, was wounded and won the Silver Star.

An attorney and graduate of Harvard and Duke University law schools, Gurney became mayor of Winter Park, Fla., in 1961. He served three terms in the House of Representatives 1963-68. Gurney and his wife, Natalie Alborn Gurney, have two children.

James B. Allen, 56-year-old attorney and Democrat, takes the Senate seat from Alabama held by Democrat Lister Hill, who did not seek re-election. Allen whipped Republican Perry O. Hooper in November. Allen was twice lieutenant governor of Alabama and served in both the Alabama House and Senate. He was a strong supporter of former Gov. George Wallace.

Marlow Webster Cook, a Kentucky judge for the last eight years, succeeds Republican Thruston Morton of Kentucky, who did not seek re-election. Republican Cook, 42, served in the Kentucky House of Representatives for two terms. He is married and has four daughters and a son.

Barry Goldwater returns to the U.S. Senate where he served 12 years before his unsuccessful 1964 for the presidency.

The 60-year-old Arizona Republican is taking over the seat of retiring Sen. Carl Hayden, a Democrat who was president pro tem of the Senate and a member of Congress 57 years.

Goldwater defeated an administrative aide to Hayden in the general election.

After being elected to the Senate in 1962, Goldwater steadily built a reputation as a spokesman for conservatives in the Republican party. He vacated his Senate seat to run for the presidency, losing a landslide decision to President Johnson.

He was an executive in the family's department store business before jumping into politics.

Iowa Democrat Harold Hughes, is a one time truck driver who licked a drinking problem.

After Army Service in World War II, Hughes became manager of an Iowa truck line, rose to lead trucking associations, formed his own Insurance and real estate business, because a member of the Iowa Commerce Commission and was elected the state's governor in 1962. His rise involved a switch of parties. He was once an active Republican.

Hughes, now 45, has been critical of the Johnson Administration's handling of the Vietnam war.

Alaska Democrat Mike Gravel won a general election faceoff with the man he replaces, Democrat Ernest Gruening, and a determined Republican nominee, Elmer Rasmuson.

Gruening, 81, lost the primary to Gravel, 38-year-old Anchorage businessman, then lost a write-in campaign.

Gravel, a native of Springfield, Mass., is in the real estate business at Anchorage. He is a former speaker of the Alaska House. He and his wife, Rita, have two children.

Theodore F. Stevens was appointed Alaska's Republican Senator by Gov. Walter J. Hickel following the death of the late Democrat E. L. Bartlett.

He will serve two years, until a general election.

Stevens, 45-year-old Anchorage lawyer, has been majority leader of the Alaska House and twice unsuccessfully sought election to the U.S. Senate. He is the 49th state's first Republican senator.

He was a pilot in China during World War II. He and his wife, Ann, have five children.

No stranger to Washington, Stevens was Interior department counsel in the Eisenhower administration.

Henry Bellmon, a husky wheat farmer who sparked the Republican resurgence in Oklahoma, won election to the Senate by ousting veteran Democratic Mike Monroney.

The 47-year-old ex-Marine officer began mapping his Senate bid in 1966 soon after completing a four-year term as Oklahoma's first Republican governor.

Generally regarded as a conservative, Bellmon established himself as a hawk on Vietnam during the campaign and portrayed Monroney as a "rubber stamp" for "big spending" domestic policies.

At 36, Robert W. Packwood, Oregon Republican, becomes the youngest member of the Senate.

The Portland attorney has served three terms in the Oregon legislature beginning in 1963. He unseated 24-year veteran Democrat Wayne Morse by less than 3,300 votes in a re-counted November election.

Kansas Republican Bob Dole, 45, is a lawyer and was twice decorated for "heroic achievement" in Italy during World War II when he lost use of one arm.

With experience in Kansas politics and as a three term congressman, Dole is an authority on farm problems but would like to establish a national image.

He has a reputation as a mid-western conservative but he says he has liberal leanings in civil rights and other areas and doesn't like such labels.

Missouri's Thomas F. Eagleton, 39, a Democrat, defeated Republican Rep. Thomas B. Curtis after having defeated Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., in the primary. A lawyer and post-war Navy veteran he has won several home-state elective offices. He calls himself a liberal.

Congress

eral officers including the President.

The House may have to grapple with the problem of whether to seat New York's Adam Clayton Powell, ousted in 1967 after being accused of misusing federal funds.

President Johnson is expected to press hard for early Senate action on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, but that chamber could get bogged down first in the biennial and always controversial move to moderate the filibuster rule that requires a two-third vote to limit debate.

Even the usually routine returns of presidential returns could provide a spark or two.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., said they will ask Congress Monday to reject a North Carolina electoral vote cast for third party candidate George C. Wallace and award it to Nixon.

Nixon carried North Carolina, but because of the switch got only 12 of the state's 13 votes.

The pair said they wanted to "insure the integrity of this election . . . and to effectively dramatize the danger of continuing to operate under this outmoded, haphazard and undemocratic method of electing a president."

The Powell issue is the thorniest facing the House.

Powell has twice been re-elected by his Harlem district since he was denied his seat in the 90th Congress.

Some Republicans are planning to move to seat the New Yorker this time but fine him $40,000, strip him of seniority and censure him. Others said they flatly oppose seating him and it takes only one objection to force a roll call.

Democrats, holding a 243-192 majority in the House and a 57-43 edge in the Senate, said in advance of the 1969 session they would try to co-operate with Nixon.

But there were frequent warnings that he could lose their support across the board if Republicans tried to scuttle Great Society programs.

The pay raise proposal would provide a $50,000 increase for Nixon, making his salary $150,000. It would have to be passed by both House and Senate and signed into law before he takes the oath Jan. 20 or he would not be eligible for it until and unless he wins a second term.

This would help to pave the way for a substantial pay raise for members of Congress and other high government officials expected to be recommended by President Johnson.

A special commission has proposed to Johnson that senators and representatives be hiked from $30,000 to $50,000. He will make his recommendations when he submits his budget in about two weeks.

Senate leaders also have said they expect early action on ratification of the treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons, a piece of business hanging over from the 1968 session.

But opponents of the pact may seek further hearings by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Besides re-electing Ford as minority leader House Republicans again chose Illinois' Leslie Arends as whip.

Democrats returned Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Hale Boggs of Louisiana to the majority leader and whip posts.

The House Democratic Caucus gave McCormack 178 votes to 58 for Udall and four for Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., a non-candidate who seconded McCormack's nomination.

The liberal bloc backing the 46-year-old Udall against the 77-year-old McCormack had some comfort in their unexpectedly heavy defeat.

The caucus and leadership adopted some points Udall and others have pressed for.

There will be monthly meetings of the caucus, giving rank and file members a chance to express themselves on policies. An August vacation recess was promised, as well as more definite scheduling of periodical holiday breaks, so that members may make speaking and visiting commitments in their districts.

The word "academy" comes from the school of philosophy founded by the ancient Greek philosopher Plato. It was situated near Athens in a grove said to have belonged to Academus, a hero of the Trojan War.

made by the Democratic committee on committees will be submitted to the full caucus.

House Republicans had only one major leadership contest—for chairman of the House Republican Conference, a post greatly increased in importance while it was held by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin secretary of defense-designate.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois won it, handily defeating Reps. Jackson E. Betts of Ohio and Albert H. Quie of Minnesota.

picked up there by planes sent from Florida.

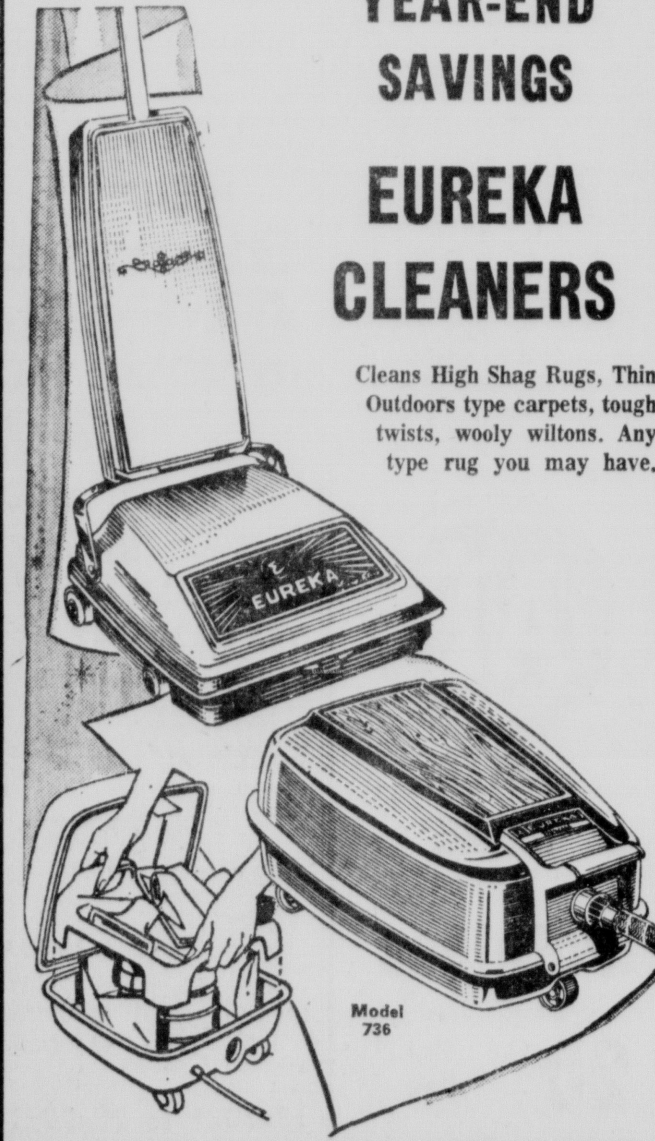

The last previous hijacking to Cuba, also an Eastern plane, was on Dec. 19, 1968, when a jet flying nonstop from Philadelphia to Miami was diverted.

On Thursday the FBI at Miami filed a complaint naming Thomas George Washington, 27, of Gary, Ind., as its hijacker.

The FBI said Washington took his daughter, Jennifer Robin, 3, from his divorced wife in Philadelphia and boarded the plane along with 140 other passengers.

Board Arranges 4 Tests On Jobs

The Civil Service Commission said today it will hold examinations to draw up new eligibility lists for appointments in four city job classifications.

The posts are: Sewage department maintenance man, which pays $2.62 hourly; water department meter reader and assistant repairman, which pays $421.05 monthly; truck driver and heavy equipment operator for the street and incinerator departments, which pay $2.31 per hour, and utility supplyman in the sewage department, which pays $462 monthly. The commission said applications for each examination will be received until Jan. 23 at 4 p.m. No date has been set for the tests. The commission said applicants will be notified later of the date, time and place of examination.

Each eligibility list will remain in effect a year. Forms are available from the office of Mayor George E. Willshaw or from any member of the commission, comprised of H. A. Tullis, A. A. Fiorello and Tom W. Phillips. P. K. Calhoun is clerk.

Local Resident Fined $183 At Wellsville

A 25-year-old East Liverpool man paid a total of $183.72 in fines and court costs when he pleaded guilty to varied charges in a hearing Thursday before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville.

Bill Cornell was assessed as follows: Intoxication and disorderly conduct, $25; resisting arrest, $50; assault on a police officer, $50, and malicious destruction, $50, plus court costs. He was arrested by Wellsville police late Wednesday night at 9th and Main Sts.

Elizabeth II was crowned queen of England in 1953.

New Date Set On 4 Charges In Auto Crash

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today reluctantly granted another continuance to a man facing four charges as an aftermath of a traffic mishap nearly a month ago.

He set a hearing Tuesday at 9 a.m. for Alfred Higgins of 770 Dresden Ave., charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, public intoxication, failure to stop after an accident and operating a vehicle after his driver's license had been suspended.

Higgins appeared this morning for a scheduled trial and asked a new continuance to allow him to obtain counsel. He was cited by police Dec. 5 after a car he was operating allegedly struck a utility pole on St. Clair Ave. near Walnut St.

The court pointed out that Higgins was arraigned on the charges Dec. 11 and granted a continuance until Dec. 17 to obtain counsel. On Dec. 17, he was given another continuance until today, also to obtain counsel, the court remarked.

The judge pointed out that Ohio law does not require the state to provide counsel for the indigent in misdemeanor cases. Higgins had pleaded a lack of funds. The court said the hearings will proceed Tuesday whether or not Higgins has an attorney.

MEANWHILE, Mrs. June Sturgill of Thompson Pl. was acquitted on a charge of operating an auto with a noisy muffler. The allegation accused her of using a muffler from "which the baffle plates had been removed and not replaced" or of having a muffler that was otherwise defective.

Mrs. Sturgill, who pleaded not guilty, was cited Dec. 25 at 1:22 a.m. on St. Clair Ave. by Patrolman Arthur Peters. The officer testified he saw Mrs. Sturgill start her auto and that it made a "loud, crackling noise" with the exhaust.

Two drivers accused of crashing traffic lights were fined $5 and costs each. They were Richard C. Davis of Springview Rd., cited Dec. 31 at E. 5th St. and Broadway, and Evanthal C. Pearson of 523 College St., arrested Dec. 31 at 6:29 a.m. at E. 5th and Washington Sts.

Hazel M. Tarapchak of 339 Tip Top Alley was fined $5 and costs on a charge of operating an auto with a faulty muffler. She was arrested Thursday at 3:38 a.m. at Broadway and St. Clair Ave.

Raymond A. Sprout of 305 Needham St. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle and ordered to pay court costs on a charge of driving alone on a temporary instruction permit. He told the court he obtained a driver's license yesterday. Sprout was cited Dec. 31 at 2:38 a.m. on Broadway.

Nameplate Of New Attorney General Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The nameplate of attorney general-designate Paul W. Brown was placed on the Attorney General office door early today in a brief ceremony.

Brown, a former Ohio Supreme Court Justice, will be sworn in as attorney general at 2 p.m. Saturday.

William B. Saxbe, elected to the U.S. Senate in the Nov. 5 general election, resigned as attorney general effective Thursday.

Brown spent most of Thursday moving into his new office. His successor on the high court, Franklin County Municipal Court Judge Robert M. Duncan, will be sworn in as a Supreme Court justice on Jan. 7.

Bicycle racing fans trace their sport back to the 1700's when a Frenchman named Desivrac put together a crude prototype of today's bicycle. It was impossible to steer his invention, and there were no pedals or brakes. The rider merely straddled a crossbar between two wooden wheels and walked or glided along.

19 Of CAP Receive Certificates

MARK TEMPLIN, instructor, presents certificates to two of the 19 who completed a CAP first-aid course here. The youths are Mark Poole, left, and Ron Wilson. Looking on is Donald Poole, Mark's father and CAP commander.

Certificates were presented 19 members of Composite Squadron 307 of the East Liverpool Civil Air Patrol for completing a first-aid course in ceremonies this week.

The course was taught by Mark Templin, instructor for the Red Cross here. Textbooks prepared by the National Red Cross were used. Templin said.

The following received certificates indicating "satisfactory or superior knowledge of the course": CAP Comdr. Donald Poole, Deputy Comdr. Dudley DeBolt, Jay Finney, Ken Wilson, Waunda Wilson, Bonnie Hale, Velma Poole, Beverly Meredith, Sharon Angus, John Prokop, Ray Hess, Ricky Badger, Wayne Poole, Greg Fitch, Daniel Moore, Ron Wilson, Kris Wilson and Mark Poole.

Kiwanis Speaker Describes Expansion On Barge Traffic

The fast-growing barge traffic on the Ohio River was discussed by John Parsons, general manager of the Parsons Coal Co., at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Parsons pointed out East Liverpool, which has three other river terminals besides his, is an active inland port, with one day's tonnage handling exceeding that of all of Pittsburgh.

The city, he said, is ideally located geographically as a road link with Lake Erie and is in the center of the major cargo users.

COAL IS the principal commodity shipped in the area, with some 31,200 net tons passing the city daily. This would be equal to 624 railroad cars or 1,560 trucks, he stated.

Parsons said there are about 14,760 barges in use on the inland waters and 1,860 towboats. He spoke of the growing use of barge shipping which is cheaper than by rail or truck, and referred to the start of clay shipments into East Liverpool in the past few years.

Railroads and trucks also play an important part in river shipping for local hauling and loading and unloading of barges. He said the hauling of trucks on trains for long-distance trips will soon be matched with the hauling of sections of train and trucks on barges.

The North Star Co. of Pittsburgh obtained the Parsons firm about two years ago, and just last year Parsons gave up its ready-mix cement business to Dravo Corp. which took over the Milliron Co., and now concentrates fully on its river terminal and storage business.

PARSONS said he now has the largest dock area between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati and handles products for 23 firms. He declared the future of river transportation is assured and within a few years said it will be greatly spurred here by the completion of the river-to-lake highway linking East Liverpool and Ashtabula with a two-hour truck run.

Parsons was introduced by Glenn Wright, who announced plans for the installation dinner Jan. 14 at the Holiday Inn at Waterford Park. Hans Hacker, area artist, will present the program.

A $25 savings bond for being the "outstanding 4-H youth in southern Columbiana County" was presented to Wayne Boyd of Wellsville RD 1 by Harold Allison, chairman of the club's agriculture and conservation committee.

Dayton Allen, president, was in charge.

Ohio Senator Plans Marauding Gangs Bill

CINCINNATI (AP)—An Ohio senator plans to introduce bills to the General Assembly to rid streets of "marauding gangs of youths" by making parents liable for their crimes.

Stanley Aronoff of Cincinnati said Thursday he will propose that parents be liable for up to $2,000 for both malicious assault upon other persons by their children, and malicious destruction of property.

"The theory of both bills is that if a parent knows that there may be a conviction against him he will keep closer watch on his child," Aronoff explained.

He said support for such legislation has come from law enforcement agencies, public and parochial school system and Parent-Teacher Associations, and community newspapers.

The distinction between a novice and an amateur lies in the fact that a novice is a rank beginner, while an amateur may be highly skilled.

Smith To Ask $253 Million W.Va. Budget

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Hulett C. Smith was expected to reveal a proposed state budget of $253 million for the coming fiscal year today.

State house sources said the fiscal plan will not contain a provision for teacher salary increases — a controversial issue much publicized during the recent general election campaign. Gov.-elect Arch A. Moore Jr. campaigned on a promise to hike teachers' salaries by $1,000 without a tax increase.

The Republican from Moundsville will have power to recall Smith's proposal and submit another after taking over as governor Jan. 13.

Norman Yost, administrative assistant for Moore, said late Thursday night the governor-elect would probably not comment until he has received a copy of the proposed budget.

Moore has arrived in West Virginia after closing down his congressional offices in Washington Thursday.

State Finance Commissioner Joseph Peters declined to discuss the Smith proposal in detail.

Peters did confirm, however, that the proposal will not contain a teachers' salary raise or any other major new expenditure.

The $253 million figure is approximately $2 million more than the budget for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Other Capitol sources said Smith's bill would include a five per cent pay hike for other state employees, a total increase of $2.3 million, and a $2.1 million allocation for increased aid to higher education.

Moore's teacher pay increase pledge was similar to one which will be presented the legislature by State School Superintendent Rex M. Smith.

Smith's pay hike proposal, on behalf of the State Department of Education, will total about $24 million, including salary increases for non-teaching personnel and other operating expenses.

The school superintendent declined to comment on Smith's reported proposal until he had more information on the plan. But he said: "I think that the legislature will give our proposal consideration, and I hope it will provide sufficient funds."

Smith To Ask $253 Million W.Va. Budget

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Hulett C. Smith was expected to reveal a proposed state budget of $253 million for the coming fiscal year today.

State house sources said the fiscal plan will not contain a provision for teacher salary increases — a controversial issue much publicized during the recent general election campaign.

Gov.-elect Arch A. Moore Jr. campaigned on a promise to hike teachers' salaries by $1,000 without a tax increase.

The Republican from Moundsville will have power to recall Smith's proposal and submit another after taking over as governor Jan. 13.

Norman Yost, administrative assistant for Moore, said late Thursday night the governor-elect would probably not comment until he has received a copy of the proposed budget.

Moore has arrived in West Virginia after closing down his congressional offices in Washington Thursday.

State Finance Commissioner Joseph Peters declined to discuss the Smith proposal in detail.

Peters did confirm, however, that the proposal will not contain a teachers' salary raise or any other major new expenditure.

The $253 million figure is approximately $2 million more than the budget for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Other Capitol sources said Smith's bill would include a five per cent pay hike for other state employees, a total increase of $2.3 million, and a $2.1 million allocation for increased aid to higher education.

Moore's teacher pay increase pledge was similar to one which will be presented the legislature by State School Superintendent Rex M. Smith.

Smith's pay hike proposal, on behalf of the State Department of Education, will total about $24 million, including salary increases for non-teaching personnel and other operating expenses.

The school superintendent declined to comment on Smith's reported proposal until he had more information on the plan.

But he said: "I think that the legislature will give our proposal consideration, and I hope it will provide sufficient funds."

'Citizens' Install Officers

SENIOR CITIZENS officers for 1969 were installed Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Margaret Datwyler, (left) the new president, accepts the gavel from the outgoing president John Cunningham. Other new officers include Mrs. Virginia Heddleston, (extreme right) recording secretary, and standing, left to right, Mrs. Lessie Thomas, treasurer, Miss Mildred Rose, supervisor, and Guy Krentler, second vice president. Absent were Lester Hickman, first vice president, and Isabelle Calhoun, corresponding secretary.

The Rev. D. Ross Salisbury, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, installed the 1969 officers of the East Liverpool Area Senior Citizens Thursday afternoon at the Parish hall of the church.

The officers include Mrs. Margaret Datwyler, president, who succeeds John Cunningham; Lester Hickman, first vice president; Guy Krentler, second vice president; Mrs. Virginia Heddleston, recording secretary; Mrs. Lessie Thomas, treasurer; Mrs. Isabelle Calhoun, corresponding secretary, and Miss Mildred Rose, supervisor.

Rev. Salisbury commended the members for "their accomplishments and acts of kindness" during 1968 and extended best wishes for 1969.

Mrs. Datwyler appointed chairmen for various committees.

Mrs. Maude Logan and Mrs. Lessie Thomas presented readings. The corsage was received by Mrs. Logan.

The choir sang several selections and by request, Miss Rose, choir director, sang "Dear Old Girl." Sixty-eight attended the meeting.

Movie Brat Escaped Ruin

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some child actors are ruined for life by the precocious demands their careers make upon them before they reach maturity.

But that didn't happen to Bonita Granville, the movie brat whom film audiences a generation ago loved to hate.

Today she is happily married to Jack Wrather, millionaire rancher, oilman and entertainment entrepreneur, and keeps her hand in show business by working as assistant producer on his CBS television show, "Lassie."

Bonita, born in New York City, is the daughter of the late Bernard Granville, a Ziegfeld Follies star, and Rosina Timponi Granville, also a well known stage performer.

"My father was one of the first Broadway musical stars to earn $5,000 a week," she recalled.

Her own acting career started at the age of 7 when she went to Hollywood in 1931 and almost immediately was signed to appear in "Westward Passage," starring Ann Harding and a then obscure young British actor, Laurence Olivier.

One of the early highlights of her career was "These Three," in which she played a hateful brat so successfully that for a few years she was saddled with a series of such unsympathetic roles.

As she graduated, however, from child star to ingenue to dramatic actress she was given more ingratiating roles in such films as "The Plough and the Stars," "An, Wilderness," "Cavalcade," and "H.M. Pulham, Esq."

Altogether she appeared in 55 films.

Personalities In The News

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — The honeymoon was over, and David and Julie Eisenhower were back at college today.

They arrived at their four-room apartment Thursday night under the scrutiny of Secret Service agents, who will live nearby and remain close to the couple.

David, grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, begins spring semester of his junior year at Amherst College on Monday. Julie, daughter of President-elect Nixon, registers that same day at Smith College, where she is a junior.

Their apartment, in a 3½-story Tudor-style building, is within walking distance of Smith. Amherst is a few miles away within easy commuting distance.

DUBLIN (AP) — Ireland's

President Eamon de Valera told diplomats from 19 nations that a worldwide police force is needed to keep peace.

"Unless the nations agree to arbitration in disputes and to the authority of such international organizations as the U.N.—with the backing of an effective police force—I cannot see any hope of lasting peace," he said Thursday.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty has announced plans to seek a third four-year term.

Yorty, at a news conference Thursday, said, "The derelictions of a few people shouldn't be used to blacken the name of the city, or to attack me."

Several of his appointees have been named in criminal and conflict-of-interest charges.

Yorty, 59, won the nonpartisan mayor's job in 1961 by ousting Norris Poulson and won reelection over Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif. At least six others say they may oppose him in the election April 1.

NEW YORK (AP) — French actress Leslie Caron and American movie producer Michael Laughlin were married New Year's Day in Jamaica.

The couple plans to live in London, said Miss Caron's press agent in announcing the wedding Thursday.

Laughlin, 29, has produced two movies in England, "The Whisperers" and "Joanna." It is his first marriage.

Miss Caron, 36, played the title role in "Gigi," which won an Academy Award in 1958. She previously was married to British director Peter Hall. They divorced in 1965.

Killed In Viet Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ohio soldiers, Cpl. Charles R. Cook of Cincinnati and Spec. 4 Paul W. Baker of Columbus, have been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Thursday.

Troy weight is the system used for precious metals and stones.

Patrol Lists Two Mishaps

A county motorist was injured in a traffic accident on Route 170, a mile south of East Palestine, Thursday at 1:10 p.m.

Timothy S. Weigle, 16, of 427 N. Market St., East Palestine, was driving a 1968 coach north when he lost control and the car struck an abutment and marker sign.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon cited Weigle for excessive speed for road conditions. He was treated by a physician.

Two area men complained of injuries, but apparently were not treated, as the result of a two-car accident on Route 267 about a half-mile north of the city limits at 7:45 a.m. Thursday.

Donald K. Croxall, 35, of Lisbon St. was driving a 1966 coach on Route 267 when a 1964 sedan operated by Carl H. Naylor, 67, of Lisbon St., backed from a private drive and was struck by the Croxall auto.

Naylor was cited for improper backing. Both cars were heavily damaged.

Vicki Will Ride Main Float In Inaugural Event

DESLER, Ohio (AP)—Vicki Lynn Cole, the Desler teenager who won national fame during the presidential campaign, will ride aboard the "Forward Together" main float in the inaugural parade Jan. 20 in Washington.

The "Forward Together" theme of President-elect Nixon's new administration was taken from the wording of a sign held by the 13-year-old girl when Nixon's campaign train passed through this small northwestern Ohio town.

Nixon remembered the sign. He announced immediately after his election that the words would be used as the theme of his administration.

And Nixon personally and formally invited the Cole family to attend the inauguration and its various accompanying events.

Vicki's father, the Rev. David Cole, said Nixon also asked her to ride aboard the main float in the parade. The Rev. Mr. Cole said Vicki plans to accept the ride.

The 37-year-old Methodist pastor said he might fly his family to the inauguration. The Rev. Mr. Cole has a commercial pilot's license.

All of the Coles, Vicki, her parents, brother Gregory, 8, and two sisters, Brenda, 14, and Renee, 11, are planning to make the trip.

George Washington served as a colonel in the British Army in 1755, during the French and Indian Wars.

Pedestrian Is Slain By Shot From Auto

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man walking near the downtown section early today was slain by a shot fired from a passing car, police said.

He was identified as Moses Thrasher, 44.

Witnesses said at least four men were riding in the late-model auto which slowed as it approached Thrasher at Liberty and Main Streets.

Police said there was no apparent motive for the slaying.

Dranes Reside In Illinois After Honeymoon At Falls

Seaman Apprentice and Mrs. Robert Drane have returned from a honeymoon at Niagara Falls and have left for their home at Waukegan, Ill.

They were married Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the First Church of the Nazarene, with the Rev. Howard Hill officiating for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was Miss Linda Kay Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Carroll of Calcutta. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Pauline McCarrell of Hookstown.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a winter white wool dress trimmed with rhinestones. A pink feather hat, shocking pink accessories and pink rosebud corsage complemented her costume.

Miss Marilyn Carroll, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a blue velvet dress with matching hat and burgundy color accessories. Her corsage of white carnations was tipped in burgundy.

Larry Drane served as his brother's best man.

The mother of the bride chose a multi-color dress with Navy blue accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray and red knit suit with red accessories.

A RECEPTION for 70 followed at the home of the bridegroom's mother. The buffet table was centered with a three-tier cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Aides were Miss Sharon Shanks and Mrs. Karen Rowley.

For traveling, the bride wore a melon color wool suit with black accessories.

The bride's parents entertained Tuesday with a 1 p.m. luncheon at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Carroll of Lincoln Ave. A silver theme predominated in appointments. The three-tier cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The newlyweds are 1966 graduates of Beaver Local High School. The bridegroom was graduated in 1967 from Youngstown Technological Institute. He has completed his boot training and is attending school at Great Lakes, Ill.

Household Hints

Herbs and spices wisely used aid and intensify natural flavors of foods, but should never mask true flavors. Aim to create savory goodness without letting the spice taste dominate the flavor of the food, suggests Mrs. Ruth F. Funk, Extension Home Economist for Beaver County.

In some foods, such as curry, chili and gingerbread, the spice imparts an expected flavor and is intended to be the dominant flavor.

How much herbs and spices should you use? A good rule is to start with one-fourth teaspoon for each pound of meat, poultry or fish, or pint of sauce of soup. The pungency of the spice used dictates the amount. For cayenne pepper or garlic salt, begin with one-eighth teaspoon, but it's best to use tested recipes for best results.

The strength of spicy flavors may depend on when you add spices to the recipe. Ground spices quickly lose flavor so add them to stews, soups or sauces near the end of the cooking time. In baking, add spices or herbs with the salt; for peak flavor in salad dressings and fruit juices, let the seasoning stand several hours in the liquid, advises Mrs. Funk.

Whole spices, tied in a cheesecloth or muslin bag, in long-cooking recipes give a gourmet touch. Remove the spice bag when you have the desired flavor.

Farm And Garden

Pond Ice Not The Same

Farm ponds often are attractive this time of the year for skating and recreation. Thickness of the ice is not always an accurate measure of its strength; slush ice, for example, is about half as strong as clear, blue ice. New ice is stronger than old ice, and ice formed by direct freezing of pond water is stronger than that formed from melting snow.

Generally 2 inches of ice supports one man on foot. Three inches will support a group of people single file, and 7½ inches are required to support a car or truck. Exercise caution with ice covering spring-fed bodies of water, or that on streams with a fast-moving current. Thickness of ice on these may vary considerably.

Many farm ponds will be providing excellent ice for skating, but always make a test of ice thickness and other safety factors. Keep a straight ladder or coil of rope handy for rescue purposes.

Cynthia Cairns, Robert Sprague Plan To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cairns of the Y. & O. Rd. announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cynthia Lee Cairns, to Robert H. Sprague, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sprague of Lyndhurst, Ohio.

Miss Cairns attends Mt. Union College in Alliance. Her fiancé is music director at Beaver Local High School.

No date has been set for the wedding.

BETTY ARMSTRONG
Will Plan For Wedding.

Engagement Set By Ex-Resident To Serviceman

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Betty Armstrong, former local resident, to Floyd Wayne Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williamson of Diecks, Ark.

Miss Armstrong, daughter of Mrs. Esther Armstrong of Searcy, Ark., and the late Harry Armstrong, was graduated in 1964 from Beaver Local High School and is a junior major in home economics at Harding College in Searcy.

Her fiancé received a degree in business administration in 1968 from Harding College and is serving in the Air Force at Wichita Falls, Tex.

No date has been set for the wedding.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—When painting galvanized metal, how can I prevent its peeling off as it usually does?

A.—By properly treating the metal before painting. This is done by sponging on vinegar, letting stand for about an hour, then rinsing off with plain water and letting dry thoroughly before painting.

Q.—How can I cut down on the dripping of candles?

A.—You can go a long way towards preventing messy candles if you'll put them in the refrigerator for a few hours before using them.

Q.—How can I keep my record albums standing upright when some of them are removed from the shelf?

A.—If you'll glue a sheet of corrugated cardboard to the inside back of the cabinet, the ridges in the cardboard will keep the remaining albums upright.

Maureen Rose Broderick And Emmett L. Pelley Wed

Miss Maureen Rose Broderick and Petty Officer 3C Emmett L. Pelley III were united in marriage Dec. 21 at 1:45 p.m. in the Immaculate Conception Church of Wellsville, with Fr. James Cavanaugh officiating for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Broderick, made her own wedding dress of white orlon knit, A-line and street-length, trimmed with white fur at the neckline and wrists. Her illusion shoulder-length veil was held in place by a circle of white fur.

Her twin sister, Miss Colleen Ann Broderick, was maid of honor. She appeared in a ruby red velvet A-line street-length dress trimmed in white Irish lace. Her headpiece was a ruby-red velvet diad crown.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, lily-of-the-valley and holly with white satin streamers tied in lovers' knots. Her bridesmaid carried a colonial arrangement of pink roses accented with holly.

The traditions were observed by the bride, including a borrowed blue garter belonging to the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Clarence Fields, and heirloom white linen and lace handkerchiefs belonging to her two grandmothers, Mrs. Ella Broderick and the late Mrs. Mayme Leake.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pelley Jr. of 18th St. Heights, had his brother Dean as best man.

The bride's mother wore a brown velvet suit with a gold shell and brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy and white sheath with matching jacket and navy accessories.

IMMEDIATELY following the wedding, the bride's parents were hosts at a buffet luncheon at their home on Main St. In the evening, the Brodericks held "open house" from 7 to 10 o'clock. The guests were served from the bride's table which was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a three-tier wedding cake decorated with pink and white roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Tall white tapers in antique crystal holders flanked the cake. Crystal punch bowls surrounded with holly were placed at each end of the table.

A silver coffee service was nearby on an antique marble topped table. The bride's sister, Mrs. Larry Varner, poured.

Aides at the bride's table were her aunts, Mrs. Paul Geer and Mrs. Edward Broderick, and her cousins, Miss Sue Geer and Miss Janet Broderick. Miss Pam Pelley, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

The couple left immediately following the "open house" for a brief honeymoon. For going away, the bride wore a two-piece aqua angora wool dress made from material the bridegroom bought on a Mediterranean cruise. She wore her corsage from the bride's table.

After a Christmas leave, the couple will reside at Norfolk, Va., where Petty Officer Pelley is serving with the navy aboard the Graham County.

Proposals Branded 'Tortuous'

NLF Short Of Rejecting Latest U.S. Talks Plan

PARIS (AP) — The National Liberation Front said today it would be "difficult to accept" the latest American proposals to settle the procedural argument stalling the Vietnam peace talks. But an NLF spokesman stopped short of rejection.

Tran Hoai Nam, deputy chief of the Front's peace delegation, said the U.S. proposals were "tortuous" and reflected the "absurd idea" that the Paris talks were to be a two-sided affair.

The proposal was made Thursday night by U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance at a meeting with North Vietnamese Col. Ha Van Lam. Vance proposed six different forms the conference table might take, while Lau advanced another proposal for a round table.

The NLF spokesman told a news conference that all of Vance's table shapes reflected the "unacceptable" American idea that only two sides would be taking part in the discussions. North Vietnam and the different forms the conference is to be a four-party affair at which the NLF is to have full status.

"It is very difficult to accept the proposals of Mr. Vance because they reflect the absurd idea of two sides," Nam said. When a spokesman called attention to his wording—"difficult to accept"—and asked if his delegation rejected the U.S. proposals, Nam said with a smile: "I have already replied."

Vance at his meeting with Lau said the United States and South Vietnam would agree to sit at the round table proposed by Hanoi if a felt strip was stretched across the center of the table to symbolize the division of the conference participants into two "sides."

Vance met this morning with South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam for 90 minutes to give him the details of his meeting with Lau. There was no comment by either side.

The North Vietnamese, in a communique, said Vance has not yet accepted its "logical and reasonable proposal." It accused the Americans of deliberately delaying the conference.

Both U.S. and North Vietnamese proposals were said to be under study by the conference participants.

The circular table proposal symbolizes Hanoi's contention that the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front must have equal status with the three other delegations at the Paris talks. The Saigon government insists on some sort of arrangement that does not represent recognition of the NLF as anything more than a subordinate of Hanoi. The wrangle over table shapes and other details has blocked the start of the expanded peace talks for two months.

Lau declined to accept the felt strip proposal or any of Vance's five other table designs Thursday, but he said he would consider the proposals. Then he put forward this counterproposal:

If the Americans accept a round table with nothing to suggest division, then North Vietnam will drop its demand for separate flags and nameplates in the conference room for the four delegations.

This would tend to minimize the NLF's claim that it is the only legitimate representative of the South Vietnamese people and entitled to equal status at the conference with the Americans and North Vietnamese.

Vance said his delegation would study the offer and discuss it with Saigon's representatives.

Vance put forward a three-point proposal to end the procedural deadlock:

—There should be no display of emblems or nameplates by any of the participants. Lau agreed.

—The order of speaking should be determined by lot. Lau agreed to a drawing, but said the drawing should be among the four delegations, not between the two sides as Vance proposed.

—The shape of the table could be round, as Hanoi proposed some weeks ago, but there would have to be some device to divide the parley into U.S.-Saigon and North Vietnamese-NLF side.

Vance then proposed six table forms which an American official later sketched for newsmen.

There was an ellipse, with the two groups facing each other along each side; a doughnut with sunken working areas at opposite sides of the circle; a table crossing the hollow center; a doughnut with ears formed by two projecting work tables for the secretarial staffs; a doughnut with thin felt strips across the rim at opposite sides, and a solid round table with a strip of felt across its center.

One U.S. official described Vance's proposal as "a Herculean effort."

Private Firms Urged In Garbage Collection
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Garbage and rubbish collection in Youngstown should be turned over to private contractors to reduce costs, a Youngstown Chamber of Commerce Report says.

In a report on the city's 1969 budget, the chamber said other departments have overtime averaging 2.3 per cent. In the refuse collection department the budget provides 8.5 per cent of the total payroll for overtime, the report added.

Aftermath Of Thefts In Thailand

Navy Relieved Of All Its Responsibility For Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense officials have relieved the Navy of all further responsibility for the amount and quality of fuel intended for vital U.S. military operations in Southeast Asia.

This was learned in the aftermath of disclosures that at least 5.5 million gallons of fuel and lubricants destined for U.S. Army and Air Force units in Thailand were stolen in 1967 alone.

General Accounting Office investigators, in a report to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., blamed the massive thefts on bribery, forgery, collusion and official laxity.

They said spot checks indicated 52 per cent of all gasoline and lubricants delivered to Thai service stations for use by U.S. military vehicles was stolen. Forty per cent of all diesel fuel sent to one air base alone never arrived, they reported.

The GAO said the Navy Fuel Supply Office had sole responsibility in Bangkok for assuring petroleum products delivered by private contractors complied in quantity and quality with standards set by the government.

A Navy source said Defense Department supply officials ordered the Army to replace the Navy's fuel inspection functions in Southeast Asia effective last Wednesday.

The substitution was not announced publicly by the Defense Department, but a Pentagon information officer confirmed it.

Defense Department supply officials also said the change was imminent.

But they insisted the action was routine, had "been in the works a long time," and had no relation to the widespread thefts.

One official said the action reflects only "the fact that the Navy is no longer the prime user" of petroleum products in the region.

Meanwhile, John McGee, the man Proxmire credits for "blowing the whistle" on the oil thefts, said his Navy superiors have instructed him not to talk to reporters about the internal operations of the Navy Fuel Supply Office.

McGee, a civilian whose assignment as a petroleum quality control representative in Bangkok was terminated abruptly last month, said he was asked to read and initial a document forbidding employees to publicly discuss the fuel office's operations.

He said he was told all information requested by the press would be supplied by Navy information officers.

McGee has said he did not request the transfer to what he said is a "make-work" clerical job. He said the Navy also once tried unsuccessfully to have him fired.

Sen. Proxmire—who asked for the GAO investigation after receiving complaints of lax procedures and illegal activities from McGee—meanwhile issued an invitation to all persons in or out of government to bring similar complaints to him.

"To anyone who has the courage and integrity to make a justified complaint, I promise immediate investigative action by the best and fastest means possible," Proxmire said in an interview.

"And I will take any step within my power to protect informants from any harassment or punitive action," the Wisconsin senator said.

Proxmire, chairman of the government economy subcommittee of the joint House-Senate Economic Committee, has said he will send the final GAO report to the Justice Department to determine if criminal prosecutions are warranted.

He has also asked the Air Force to make public copies of 31 investigative reports prepared on the thefts by its Office of Special Investigation. He said he hopes the reports indicate who received the stolen fuels.

The Defense Department, in a reply to the GAO report, said the Air Force investigations resulted in the convictions of several military personnel who received sentences ranging from fines to five years at hard labor.

Tax Institutes To Be Conducted
A Taxpayer Assistance Institute will be held at Steubenville Senior High School Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. for area residents and organizations.

It will be one of 10 conducted this month throughout the state under the supervision of F. S. Turbett Jr., district director of the Internal Revenue Service at Cleveland.

The purpose is to explain the revised 1968 Form 1040 and recent important tax changes.

Institutes also will be held at Lorain, Cleveland, Sandusky, Toledo, Lima, Mansfield, Youngstown, Canton and Akron.

Garage Employee, 65, Is Brutally Murdered
CINCINNATI (AP) — An employee at a private downtown parking garage was found brutally murdered early today and evidence at the scene led police to believe the victim had battled fiercely with his assailants. A safe had been rifled.

The body of Harry Danford, 65, Covington, Ky., was found by State Rep. Chester Cruse as he returned for his car about 2 a.m. Danford had been shot, beaten and stabbed, officers said. About $35 was missing from the safe.

Blaze In Toledo

Kills Young Man

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A three-alarm fire at a West Side apartment building early today took the life of a 23-year-old man.

The victim was identified as Joseph Nussbaum, who lived alone.

The other occupants of the 42-unit building were evacuated quickly, some with help from firemen and some by jumping from windows. Fifteen persons were taken to Toledo Hospital and treated for smoke inhalation and exposure to cold. None were kept at the hospital.

The fire was reported about 2 a.m.

Fire Chief Eulam Tucker said the fire started in Nussbaum's apartment, on the sub-basement floor of the 2 1/2-story building, and was caused by a cigarette dropped on a chair or sofa.

There was no immediate damage estimate, but Tucker said the amount would be high. Most of the bottom floor was burned out, and smoke filled the building.

Doctor Says Nixon In Full, Good Health

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President-elect Nixon, judged in "full good health to assume the challenges" of office, is preparing to fill out the top level roster of his new administration.

Nixon plans to announce Saturday the selection of Elliot L. Richardson, attorney general of Massachusetts, to be undersecretary of state, the No. 2 position in that department.

U. Alexis Johnson, now U.S. ambassador to Japan, is to be named undersecretary for political affairs, Washington sources reported.

These appointments, to be announced formally by the President-elect and Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers, lead off a series of sub-Cabinet selections to be made before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

Soon to follow: Nominations to top jobs in the Agriculture Department and the Pentagon. Nixon aides would not confirm the State Department choices. But Nixon seemed to do so obliquely in a bantering exchange with Robert H. Finch, who is to be secretary of health, education and welfare. He said Finch had tried to enlist Richardson as a top deputy for his department, but isn't going to get him.

The President-elect also said there will be six, perhaps as many as 10 Californians in the ranks of assistants and undersecretaries yet to be named.

"The reason is a conscious effort is being made in the administration to provide geographic balance," he said at a Thursday luncheon honoring Finch, lieutenant governor of California.

"There is a tendency in Washington for executive and administrative officials to be selected too much from the New York, New England and Washington, D.C., part of the country," he said. "... We have tended to look to the Midwest and the far West."

That way, he said, the new administration can seek out the top talent in all sections of the nation.

Nixon underwent a 90-minute physical examination at the Long Beach office of Dr. John C. Lungren, his personal physician. Lungren pronounced his health excellent for the tasks ahead.

He said all aspects of the examination showed Nixon to be within normal limits. That included X-rays, an electrocardiogram, laboratory studies, pulse rate and a blood pressure check.

Nixon ends his 12-day holiday vacation today by flying to Chicago to attend a dinner honoring two of his Cabinet nominees, Secretary of Labor-designate George P. Shultz, and Secretary of the Treasury-designate David M. Kennedy. Afterward, he plans to return to New York, his base during the period of government transition.

tions of reserving its compassion for "the steel, the girders, the money" while ignoring the fact that "hundreds of our people have fallen as victims of Arab violence" over the past two decades.

Israel and Lebanon each accused the other of starting the 2 1/2-hour exchange of fire Thursday night.

The Israeli army said rockets from across the border hit the settlement of Kiryat Shmoneh, and its guns silenced the Lebanese guns. No injuries were reported on the Israeli side.

A Lebanese military spokesman said the Israeli artillery opened up first. He said there were no Lebanese casualties.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan hurried to Kiryat Shmoneh Thursday night and told a newsmen: "We will put an end to the present situation in which the town of Kiryat Shmoneh is a target of Al Fatah saboteurs."

It was the second time this week the town was hit by rockets fired from Lebanese territory, and three Israelis have been killed.

On the diplomatic front, the Soviet Union pressed its campaign for a unified Big Four effort to promote a settlement favorable to the Arabs and sent its ambassadors in Washington, London and Paris to confer with State Department and Foreign Office officials and with President Charles de Gaulle.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I get rid of that "hospital smell" from antiseptic cleansers used in my home?

A.—You can replace that smell with a fresh, perfumed fragrance by pouring a little cologne into a saucer and lighting it. Heating the cologne first makes it burn better.

Q.—What can I do about knives, forks, and spoons that are discolored by egg stains?

A.—These are easily cleaned by rubbing them with salt before washing, then rinsing in soapy water, followed by a clear-water rinse, and drying.

Q.—How can I make my mirrors sparkling clean?

A.—Wash the mirrors with water to which you've added ammonia, then dry and polish with tissues... the glass will sparkle like new.

Q.—How can I preserve fine old wood, like for instance a pair of old buggy wheels I want to use as a yard decoration?

A.—You can do a good job of preserving this wood by soaking it in a solution of four parts sodium fluoride and 25 parts water. Or, you can mix oxide with enough water to make a thin paste, apply this to the wood, and after three hours apply a solution of four parts zinc chloride dissolved in 24 parts water.

Q.—How can I store hats so that their crowns won't be crushed out of shape?

A.—By crumpling enough newspaper to fit into the hats' crowns, then packing the hats in boxes.

Q.—How can I purify an unfragrant kitchen drain?

A.—By putting a handful of baking soda in the kitchen sink overnight.

Q.—How can I distinguish real chinaware from earthenware (often described as "china")?

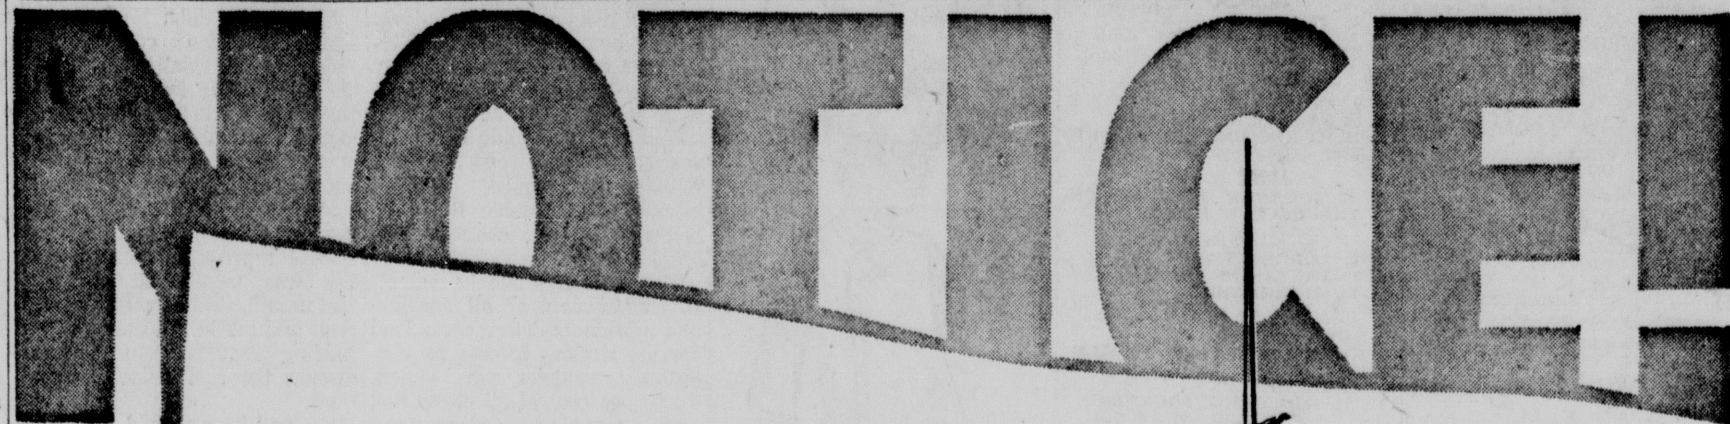

A.—By holding it up to the light. Earthenware is generally quite thick and porous in texture, while china is nonporous and translucent. Through china you can see the light diffused.

Q.—How can I reclaim some stewed fruit that has begun to sour?

A.—By adding a pinch of baking soda to the fruit, then boiling it over again for a few minutes.

Q.—How can I remedy sugar that has become hard and lumpy?

A.—By putting it into a covered container and placing in the refrigerator for a few days.

Her Father's Daughter

By Ann Landers

Wrong Number

Dear Ann: I'm the mother of a normal, healthy, happy, well-adjusted little girl. Lorraine is 3 years old and as pretty as a picture.

The problem is that whenever I ask her to do something she doesn't want to do, such as take a nap or put her toys away, she becomes very angry and inflicts pain on herself.

This child has banged her head against the floor, bitten herself until her lip bled, and pulled chunks of hair out of her head. Yesterday I left her with a sitter because I had to go see my mother in the hospital. Lorraine scratched her face with a barrette until the blood ran.

Shall I spank her or ignore her? Please advise me.—SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO.

Dear San Juan: Your opening sentence contradicts the rest of your letter. A child who bangs her head on the floor, bites her lips till they bleed and pulls chunks of hair out of her head is neither well adjusted nor happy.

She's frustrated, angry, anxious and perhaps emotionally disturbed. Punishment is not the answer. This little girl should be evaluated by a doctor. Ask your pediatrician to direct you.

Confidentially

To Sock It to Me: You're wasting your time and money. Any similarity between love and what goes on between you two is strictly miraculous. Love means confidence, trust and sharing. Your relationship is nowhere.

To Disappointed In You: Sorry, but I can't print every letter. If you really want help and not just an opportunity to use this column as a family bulletin board, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and you'll receive a personal reply.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Needle Pattern

Give a little girl hours of joy with this playmate doll that wears a child's clothes. Pretty playmate doll is 32 inches tall and wears size 3 clothes. She's fun, very simple to make. Pattern 609: transfer of doll only.

8 Are Treated At City Hospital

A city woman hurt when she tripped on a curb was admitted Thursday to City Hospital, where seven others were treated.

Mary Gilmore of 416 Prospect St. is "fair" today with a fractured right third toe suffered in the mishap.

Treated were Mrs. Floyd Stewart of Chester Rd 1, a laceration of the right thumb on a can at home; Janice Barker, daughter of Robert Barker of Longview Heights, a laceration of the left foot on glass.

William Cross of 535 1st Ave., a dog bite on the finger; Robert Waida, son of Walter Waida of Smiths Ferry Rd 1, a laceration of the chin in a fall while ice skating.

Rick McMillan of 1748 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, an employee of Patterson Industries, a contusion of the right arm on a turret lathe; Jacqueline Blair, daughter of William Blair of Dairy Ln., a laceration of the right third finger on a razor blade, and Donna Dearth, daughter of Glenn Dearth of Fredericktown, a laceration of the lip in a fall against a metal bird cage.

Radio Station Owner Dies Of Heart Attack

DETROIT (AP)—The president and owner of Community Broadcasting Radio Station WQMS in Hamilton, Ohio, died Thursday of a heart attack at his home here.

Dick Timpko, 61, was also the founder and president of Radio Station WBFG, Detroit, and operated KORU, Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Okla.

'Gripe Night' Marks Midland Lions Event

"Gripe Night" was featured when the Midland Lions Club met Friday at the Wunder Bar.

James Green will be program chairman when the group holds its annual father, son and daughter banquet Jan. 16 at the Willows Motel.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's one I'll bet you've never had before. What can we do about a 45-year-old woman (mother of three, grandmother of two; who works in an office, makes at least $7,000 a year and is never without a tremendous wad of bubble gum in her mouth?

All day long we listen to snap, crackle and pop. But that's not the worst of it. She makes enormous bubbles, some the size of a volleyball. When outsiders come into the office and see this, they're often too shocked to speak.

This morning I was engrossed in some tedious tabulating and this nut yells, "Help!" I dropped everything and ran to her desk. Apparently one of her larger bubbles had burst.

She had gum in her hair, on her glasses, in her beads and even on her earrings. The entire office was disrupted for 15 minutes trying to separate her from the gum with spot remover, ink eradicator and lighter fluid.

What can be done about this ridiculous situation? P.S.: Her father owns this business. —J.L.K.

Dear J.L.K.: Thanks for the P.S. I would say you also are stuck.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Uncle Sam Steps In

DEAR HELOISE: The U.S. Government says "you can make your own dustcloths that will pick up every bit of dust and will leave a nice shine on the furniture by adding two teaspoons of turpentine to a jar of hot sudsy water, put in a few dustcloths and screw the lid on tight. Let soak overnight

All you have to do then is wring out the cloths and hang them up to dry and they are ready for use. When soiled, they may be washed and reconditioned again.

They recommend old rags because they are soft and smooth and the lint has worn off.

MRS. J. GUSTAFSON.

Finally got the booklet on it, and you are right. That is one I won't have to test since our government already has Aren't they sweet to put those booklets out?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently I read where automobile fires average almost 400,000 a year. I can certainly believe it!

Have you ever been driving down a street or highway and had your car catch fire? Well, it's an unnerving experience.

Ever since that happened to me, I carry a portable fire extinguisher in my car. The one I bought came with a mounting bracket which made it easy to attach under the dashboard. It's the dry chemical kind.

These little extinguishers will put out fires in grease, oil, gasoline and those which occur in kitchen ranges or other appliances around the house.

MRS. J. MEAD.

You are so right. They are a wonderful safety device that I heartily recommend.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Your tip about using talcum powder or powdered starch on grease stains works like a charm.

I had several grease and oil stains on a corduroy jacket and I had tried many products on it with no luck. But by using your suggestion I was able to remove every spot.

All I can say is, "Long live Heloise and her hints."

CECIL.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: For people who don't want to stop a job to talk on the telephone, simply say, "I'm sorry but I was just in the middle of making a pie for supper."

It works every time around here!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a new one I recently learned while trying to make a satin evening dress.

The pattern kept sliding off the satin when cutting double matching pieces. At the same time, the material also slid.

I found that I could lay the material between sheets of newspaper, place the pattern on top of the newspaper, weight it down with a few books or pieces of flat silver, and cut it beautifully without it sliding all over the place.

To Encourage Career In Service

Army Plans To Promote 27 Negroes To Colonel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has selected 27 Negro officers for promotion to full colonel in a move to encourage more Negroes to make the service a career.

The action will double the number of Negroes now rated "bird" colonel and set the stage for possible advancement of more Negroes to the rank of general.

In its long history the Army has had only two Negro generals—Brig. Gen. Fredie E. Davison, deputy commander of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade in Vietnam, and retired Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis Sr.

A Pentagon spokesman said the 27 Negroes were among 1,053 Army officers selected for advancement beyond "light" colonel in a list drawn up last Nov. 6.

Jack Moskowitz, a deputy secretary of defense specializing in civil rights matters, hailed the move as "bound to encourage" more Negroes to aim for careers in the service. He said in an interview it is "proof" there is equality in the armed forces.

Moskowitz acknowledged that the services have been relatively slow elevating Negro officers to higher ranks since segregated units were banned in 1948, but "there's been a lot of spurting going on," he said.

When President Harry S. Truman ordered the desegregation of military units in 1948, the Army had only one Negro colonel among its 1,306 black officers.

In 1962, when President John F. Kennedy ordered a new look at equality in the services, there were only six Negro colonels.

The number rose to 10 in 1964, dropped to nine in 1965, then rose again to 16 in 1966 and to 27 by the end of 1967.

"We used to get complaints from Negroes and civil rights organizations that there weren't enough Negro officers in the

In Photograph Effort

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three youths from suburban Kenwood have run into a slight stumbling block in trying to photograph Kenwood by air.

Their 10-foot balloon, filled with helium and transporting an eight millimeter camera, broke a 1,000-foot line attached to it and drifted off Thursday.

But the experimenters, Robert Seifert, 15; Bob Carter, 14, and Greg Seifert, 13, were successful earlier in a similar attempt.

Fund Mounts To $124,177

The East Liverpool area United Fund is nearing the $125,275 realized during 1967.

Ed Monier, executive secretary, announced today that $124,177 has been collected to date in the 1968 drive.

He expressed doubt the goal of $130,000 will be reached, but said last-minute contributions should boost the figure over that of 1967.

Monier said contributions still are being received and may be mailed or left at the fund office in the YMCA building.

The best freshman college basketball team in the country this year may be at Louisville.

The Cardinal varsity is 7-0 and ranked 14th in the country, but the frosh scored a 107-90 win over the varsity. Leading lights on the freshman squad are 6-9 Al Vilcheck from Euclid and 6-3 Henry Bacon from Louisville, who played in the Dapper Dan Roundball Classic last year in Pittsburgh.

Houston has 6-9 Ken Spain and 6-8 Theodis Lee on its basketball team, but 6-2 Ollie Taylor jumps center. Taylor last year led San Jacinto JC to the national JC championship. Midland's Jeff Lake also played for San Jacinto.

Cleveland State U. has a 20,000-seat basketball arena planned for 1972. Miami and Ohio U. both dedicated new arenas this year. OU's seats 13,000, Miami's 9,200.

MIKE WREN, a starting sophomore guard at Miami, is the son of Bob Wren, long-time baseball coach at Ohio U. Jim Rohr, the son of Bobcat athletic director Bill Rohr, played for the Redskins last season. But OU cage coach Jim Snyder at least got his son Todd to stay in Athens. He is a star end on the football team.

George Washington U., which started off 0-9 last year, won its first six games this season. The GW student council voted 21-3 to drop out of the Southern Conference, but the administration is happy the way things are.

Many coaches are agitating to adopt the Olympic rule on foul-shooting. No foul shots except when fouled in the act of shooting. The three-referee idea is gaining favor in college circles.

Midland, Tigers At Home Tonight

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

With the holidays over, area scholastic cagers get down to business this weekend, with 16 games scheduled in the area, including East Liverpool's two.

Oak Glen travels to Beaver Local tonight, and Midland and Wellsville are at home.

The Beavers have dropped their last three games and are 2-5. Oak Glen is 2-4. Dave Mason paces Beaver Local with a 20.6 average, while Jim Carnes is hitting 18.2 for the Golden Bears. Both teams fell to Wellsville, the only common opponent, the Beavers by 75-58 and Oak Glen by 76-48. Last year Beaver Local and Oak Glen split, each winning on the other's floor.

Midland starts Section 6 play by hosting Freedom. The Leopards, 5-3, are seen as one of five contenders in a hot section title chase, while the visiting Bulldogs are 3-4 and have dropped three in a row. Greg Vanlier at 14.3 paces Ed Olkowski's Leopards.

Wellsville, 5-1 overall and unbeaten in Buckeye Border League play, takes on two league opponents this weekend. Toronto, 2-4, visits the Tigers' lair tonight, while Bob Dawson's quintet travels to Springfield in New Amsterdam Saturday night. John Bobalik is hitting 21.0. Joe D'Angelo 14.3 and Bill Miller 10.2 for Wellsville. Springfield is 3-2 and expected to be the chief obstacle in Wellsville's drive for the loop title. Jack McConaughy paces Bob Raber's team.

TRI-COUNTY League action finds Leetonia, 3-3, at Lisbon, 3-2, and Columbiana, 1-5, at East Palestine, also 1-5, tonight. Tomorrow night East Palestine is at Leetonia and unbeaten Sebring is at Columbiana, while Lisbon travels to United, 3-3.

Alan Gibson at 20.5 and Ed Casey at 19.3 are twin threats for the Leetonia Bears, while Lisbon has four starters averaging in double figures. Jim Courtney is at 19.0, Lee Smith at 11.0, Jim Taylor at 10.8 and Dave McCammon at 10.2. Both teams downed Crestview.

Joe Lewis at 16.8 and Terry Lipp at 16.5 pace East Palestine, while Columbiana gets balanced scoring from Jim H.

Fairmont Grabs Second In Small College Poll

By The Associated Press

Fairmont of West Virginia, which held third place in The Associated Press small college basketball poll by one point last week, has moved up to second by one point.

The Falcons received two first-place votes in the nationwide balloting by 13 sports writers and broadcasters. Their total of 180 points enabled them to replace Trinity of Texas in the runner-up spot by that one point.

The Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan got nine first-place votes and 246 points to maintain their No. 1 ranking. Both Kentucky Wesleyan, last season's NCAA College Division champions, and Fairmont have 8-0 records. Trinity is 7-2.

Kentucky Wesleyan and Trinity were idle last week while Fairmont won its only game from Beckley 91-76.

Ashtand of Ohio and Stephen F. Austin climbed one place each to fourth and fifth, respectively, on the strength of 2-0 records in the week which ended last Saturday. Stephen F. Austin also had one first-place vote.

Central State of Ohio also won both its games but dropped from fourth to sixth.

Southwestern Louisiana and Gannon moved into the Top Ten, replacing Cheney, Pa. State and West Virginia State. The Louisiana team, idle last week after beating three major teams the week before, picked up one first-place vote and jumped from 15th to seventh.

Gannon jumped from 12th into a tie for eighth with Youngstown State, which had the other first-place vote.

Long Beach State, eighth a week ago, brought up the bottom of the Top Ten.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes, records through last Saturday's games and total points:

1. Ky. Wesleyan (9) 8-0 246
2. Fairmont W.Va. (2) 8-0 180
3. Trinity, Tex. 7-2 179
4. Ashtand, Ohio 8-1 142
5. Steph. F. Austin (1) 9-1 130
6. Cent. State, Ohio 4-1 128
7. SW La. (1) 7-4 110
8. Gannon 6-2 85
Youngstown St. (1) 6-0 85
10. Long Beach State 10-1 53

Cowboys Prepared For Vikings

MIAMI (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry isn't sure what to expect from his Cowboys Sunday when they meet the Minnesota Vikings in the annual runner-up playoff of the National Football League.

Landry is just as curious as many people to see how his players react after their crushing defeat by Cleveland in the Eastern Conference championship game two weeks ago. The favored Cowboys bowed out of the championship picture 31-20.

Landry said he had no doubts that his fine team would recover from the bruised ego suffered in the Cleveland game. "We'll recover in time. You have to recover in this business. It's really hard to say how the players feel. They seem in good spirits, which probably is a good sign they'll play well."

The Vikings, winners of the Central Division, also are playing and working. Coach Bud Grant, however, expressed confidence his team would play well Sunday. They played well in losing the Western title to Baltimore 24-14.

"I know we're not going to be flat," said Grant. "There is far too much pride among the players to let themselves get down. They're too smart to let that happen."

Both teams report they are in good health.

OSU Grid Squad Back Home Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's triumphant football team returns home today with Gov. James A. Rhodes sitting in for Coach Woody Hayes.

The team and Rhodes were expected to arrive at Port Columbus Airport about 4 p.m.

The Buckeyes, who defeated Southern Cal 27-16 in the Rose Bowl game to clinch the national championship, were expected to receive a big campus welcome later in the day.

Hayes left the team in Los Angeles Thursday night to go with Coach Bill Hess of Ohio University to Vietnam to entertain American troops with films of the game.

Most of the rest of the OSU coaching staff remained in Los Angeles to attend sessions of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the American Football Coaches Association.

Meanwhile, thousands of Buckeye fans who attended the game arrived at Port Columbus aboard chartered flights Thursday. In all, 36 special flights were scheduled in here from the coast through Saturday.

Land Rover by Thom McAn

Husbands of America, help is here. Thom McAn has designed a shoe that asserts your rights. Leaves man-sized tracks. Looks terrible behind an apron.

It's Thom McAn's new Land Rover — a work shoe for guys who work for fun. A shoe for outdoor types — and indoor sports.

The deep-lined glove leather upper, the light but massive sole, the loop/hook speed lacing come from Thom McAn's famous work shoes. The style is strictly the casual, sporting look of the ski lodge. Rugged, but class.

Penguins Rip Canadiens, Boston Ties For NHL Top

Boston got a needed assist from Pittsburgh to climb into the first place deadlock with the Canadiens. The Penguins bunched three early goals by Wally Boyer, Bob Woytowich and Ken Schinkel and made the margin stand up. Billy Harris and rookie Jean Pronovost scored Pittsburgh's other goals while J. C. Tremblay and Dick Duff hit for the Canadiens. It was the first time expansionist Pittsburgh ever beat Montreal. Jim Johnson's 45-foot goal in the third period earned Philadelphia its tie with Chicago and goalie Doug Favell protected the deadlock with three late saves against Bobby Hull, the NHL's scoring leader. Hull scored his 25th goal of the year and assisted on a score by Chico Maki to take a two-point lead over idle Gordie Howe in the scoring race. Brit Selby scored the Flyers' first goal, just 21 seconds after Maki had hit in the first period. It was a rough game with referee Bill Friday calling 22 penalties including one major. The Bruins were on the giving and the Rangers on the receiving end of most of the hitting.

Bulls Hit Cold Spell, Hawks Rally For 11th

The temperature was supposed to drop to 65 degrees below zero in Alaska today, but it couldn't be any colder than the Chicago Bulls, found frozen in the field by the Atlanta Hawks. The Bulls started Thursday with a hot, for them, three-game winning streak and held a 63-50 lead over the even hotter Hawks and their 10-game victory string in the third period when the temperature dropped. Chicago went nine minutes and 40 seconds into the final period before hitting its first shot from the field in the quarter after missing 17 in a row. By then, Atlanta held a 98-78 lead and breezed to a 106-88 victory for No. 11. Cincinnati dissipated a 20-point lead against Milwaukee at Madison, Wis., before coming back for a 113-109 decision over the Bucks, and Boston turned back San Diego 107-95 in the only other National Basketball Association games. Atlanta helped put the Bulls in deep freeze with a tight man-to-man defense, and Chicago managed only five baskets in the last 19 minutes, scoring only 14 points in the final quarter. Walt Hazzard led Atlanta with 19 points while Bob Boozer had 27 for Chicago, but only nine in the last half and none in the final stanza. Cincinnati jumped to an 85-65 lead before the Bucks came back and took a 102-101 lead with three minutes left. Jerry Lucas' jump finally put the Royals ahead to stay at 105-104 and Oscar Robertson scored Cincinnati's last eight points for a total of 25. Teammate Tom Van Arsdale had 28. Boston had six men in double figures to offset a 32-point showing by San Diego's Elvin Hayes.

Midland, Tigers At Home Tonight

With the holidays over, area scholastic cagers get down to business this weekend, with 16 games scheduled in the area, including East Liverpool's two. Oak Glen travels to Beaver Local tonight, and Midland and Wellsville are at home. The Beavers have dropped their last three games and are 2-5. Oak Glen is 2-4. Dave Mason paces Beaver Local with a 20.6 average, while Jim Carnes is hitting 18.2 for the Golden Bears. Both teams fell to Wellsville, the only common opponent, the Beavers by 75-58 and Oak Glen by 76-48. Last year Beaver Local and Oak Glen split, each winning on the other's floor. Midland starts Section 6 play by hosting Freedom. The Leopards, 5-3, are seen as one of five contenders in a hot section title chase, while the visiting Bulldogs are 3-4 and have dropped three in a row. Greg Vanlier at 14.3 paces Ed Olkowski's Leopards. Crestview starts Inter-County League play by visiting McDonald tonight and hosting Mineral Ridge tomorrow night. The Rebels are 4-3, while McDonald is 5-0 and Mineral Ridge 4-2. Ron Athey and Keith Chamberlin are each hitting 13.4 a game for Don Kaiser's team, while Mark Chellis adds 11.7. The Rebels nipped Western Reserve, which downed Mineral Ridge. STANTON, 2-5, travels to Jefferson Union, 3-3. Dave Olesky at 18.8 and Tim Logan at 13.1 pace the Red Raiders. Both teams have beaten Southern, while Stanton downed Springfield and the Yellow Jackets lost to Springfield. Ron Pytash leads Carl Firm's Jack-eys. Western Beaver, 3-4 after three wins in a row, hosts Avonworth in a final non-league game. The Antelopes are 3-5, but 2-1 against Class B opposition and have pulled off one of the major surprises of the WPIAL season, a 55-54 overtime upset of Mounton. Chuck Kelker at 12.9 and John Petchel at 11.0 pace the Golden Beavers. The other Saturday night game finds Southern at Toronto. The Indians are 1-7, but beat Beaver Local, a team the Red Knights lost to. On the other hand, Toronto downed Springfield and Southern lost to the Tigers. Both teams have lost to Jefferson Union. Rob Carter at 19.0 and Bob Smith at 11.7 lead Al Girone's team.

TRI-COUNTY League action finds Leetonia, 3-3, at Lisbon, 3-2, and Columbiana, 1-5, at East Palestine, also 1-5, tonight. Tomorrow night East Palestine is at Leetonia and unbeaten Sebring is at Columbiana, while Lisbon travels to United, 3-3. Alan Gibson at 20.5 and Ed Casey at 19.3 are twin threats for the Leetonia Bears, while Lisbon has four starters averaging in double figures. Jim Courtney is at 19.0, Lee Smith at 11.0, Jim Taylor at 10.8 and Dave McCammon at 10.2. Both teams downed Crestview. Joe Lewis at 16.8 and Terry Lipp at 16.5 pace East Palestine, while Columbiana gets balanced scoring from Jim Hillman at 12.8, Gary Gregg at 12.3 and Frank Ringel at 11.3. Both teams lost to West Branch, Springfield Local and Carrollton. Sebring and Columbiana both beat United, but the Trojans, 5-0, whipped North Lima, while the Clippers lost to the Zips. Greg Wilson and Joe Bowers pace Sebring. Jack Mills, hitting 24.7 a game, and Steve Cope, at 15.0, lead United. Both the Golden Eagles and Blue Devils whipped Southern Local.

Crestview starts Inter-County League play by visiting McDonald tonight and hosting Mineral Ridge tomorrow night. The Rebels are 4-3, while McDonald is 5-0 and Mineral Ridge 4-2. Ron Athey and Keith Chamberlin are each hitting 13.4 a game for Don Kaiser's team, while Mark Chellis adds 11.7. The Rebels nipped Western Reserve, which downed Mineral Ridge. STANTON, 2-5, travels to Jefferson Union, 3-3. Dave Olesky at 18.8 and Tim Logan at 13.1 pace the Red Raiders. Both teams have beaten Southern, while Stanton downed Springfield and the Yellow Jackets lost to Springfield. Ron Pytash leads Carl Firm's Jack-eys. Western Beaver, 3-4 after three wins in a row, hosts Avonworth in a final non-league game. The Antelopes are 3-5, but 2-1 against Class B opposition and have pulled off one of the major surprises of the WPIAL season, a 55-54 overtime upset of Mounton. Chuck Kelker at 12.9 and John Petchel at 11.0 pace the Golden Beavers. The other Saturday night game finds Southern at Toronto. Youngstown Eighth Fairmont Grabs Second In Small College Poll

Fairmont of West Virginia, which held third place in The Associated Press small college basketball poll by one point last week, has moved up to second — by one point. The Falcons received two first-place votes in the nationwide balloting by 13 sports writers and broadcasters. Their total of 180 points enabled them to replace Trinity of Texas in the runner-up spot by that one point. The Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan got nine first-place votes and 246 points to maintain their No. 1 ranking. Both Kentucky Wesleyan, last season's NCAA College Division champions, and Fairmont have 8-0 records. Trinity is 7-2. Kentucky Wesleyan and Trinity were idle last week while Fairmont won its only game from Beckley 91-76. Ashland of Ohio and Stephen F. Austin climbed one place each to fourth and fifth, respectively, on the strength of 2-0 records in the week which ended last Saturday. Stephen F. Austin also had one first-place vote. Central State of Ohio also won both its games but dropped from fourth to sixth. Southwestern Louisiana and Gannon moved into the Top Ten, replacing Cheney, Pa., State and West Virginia State. The Louisiana team, idle last week after beating three major teams the week before, picked up one first-place vote and jumped from 15th to seventh. Gannon jumped from 12th into a tie for eighth with Youngstown State, which had the other first-place vote. Long Beach State, eighth a week ago, brought up the bottom of the Top Ten. The Top Ten, with first-place votes, records through last Saturday's games and total points: 1. Ky. Wesleyan (9) 8-0 246 2. Fairmont W.Va. (2) 8-0 180 3. Trinity, Tex. 7-2 179 4. Ashland, Ohio 8-1 142 5. Steph. F. Austin (1) 9-1 130 6. Cent. State, Ohio 4-1 128 7. SW La. (1) 7-4 110 8. Gannon 6-2 85 9. Youngstown St. (1) 6-0 85 10. Cowboys Prepared For Vikings

MIAMI (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry isn't sure what to expect from his Cowboys Sunday when they meet the Minnesota Vikings in the annual runner-up playoff of the National Football League. Landry is just as curious as many people to see how his players react after their crushing defeat by Cleveland in the Eastern Conference championship game two weeks ago. The favored Cowboys bowed out of the championship picture 31-20. Landry said he had no doubts that his fine team would recover from the bruised ego suffered in the Cleveland game. "We'll recover in time. You have to recover in this business. It's really hard to say how the players feel. They seem in good spirits, which probably is a good sign they'll play well." The Vikings, winners of the Central Division, also are playing and working. Coach Bud Grant, however, expressed confidence his team would play well Sunday. They played well in losing the Western title to Baltimore 24-14. "I know we're not going to be flat," said Grant. "There is far too much pride among the players to let themselves get down. They're too smart to let that happen." Both teams report they are in good health.

Tulsa Upsets Cincinnati

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer The Missouri Valley Conference basketball race is off to a typical scrambling start ... with Louisville's slick defending cramps soaring again and 10th ranked Cincinnati reeling after an early knockdown. The 14th ranked Cardinals, sparked by Butch Beard's outside shooting, zipped past Wichita State 71-58 Thursday night at Louisville for their ninth victory without a loss and a 2-0 MVC mark. Unranked Tulsa limited Cincinnati to 15 second half points on the way to a 57-50 home court triumph that kept the Golden Hurricane, 9-2 over-all, even with Louisville in conference play. Visiting Drake edged Memphis State 73-71 in its first MVC start for a 9-1 season mark and Bradley, a perennial Valley power, drubbed North Dakota 109-77 at Poria, Ill., in a non-league game. Unbeaten, 12th ranked New Mexico State trimmed the University of Albuquerque 91-81 for its 10th victory and No. 18 New Mexico, upset by Butler earlier in the week, rebounded for a 68-64 decision over Denver. The rest of The Associated Press Top 20 teams were idle. Louisville's Beard scored 27 points, hitting on 12 of 21 shots from the floor, to lead the Cardinals' attack against the Shockers. Louisville held the visitors to three field goals in the first 12 minutes of the second half while running a one-point halftime edge to a commanding 56-41 bulge. Tulsa overcame a seven-point intermission deficit against cold-shooting Cincinnati, 7-2, which went 7 1/2 minutes without a point during one stretch. Bobby Smith's 21 points topped the winners, who shifted from a zone to man-to-man defense at the start of the second half and outscored Cincinnati 15-5 to take the lead for good. Willie McCarter's jump shot with 42 seconds remaining gave Drake a 72-71 lead over the Tigers and Dolph Pulliam added a free throw with nine seconds to play. Memphis State's Rich Jones was the game's high scorer with 33 points while Willie Wise hit for 19 to pace the Bulldogs. Bradley, 7-4, cruised past North Dakota behind L. C. Bowe's 35-point binge. All five New Mexico State starters hit in double figures against stubborn little Albuquerque, 6-foot-9 Sam Lacy leading the way with 24 points. Denver gave New Mexico a scrap until the final three minutes, when the Lobos drew out to a five-point edge and then hung on. Willie Long, a 6-foot-8, sophomore, popped in 22 points for the winners.

OSU Grid Squad Back Home Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's triumphant football team returns home today with Gov. James A. Rhodes sitting in for Coach Woody Hayes. The team and Rhodes were expected to arrive at Port Columbus Airport about 4 p.m. The Buckeyes, who defeated Southern Cal 27-16 in the Rose Bowl game to clinch the national championship, were expected to receive a big campus welcome later in the day. Hayes left the team in Los Angeles Thursday night to go with Coach Bill Hess of Ohio University to Vietnam to entertain American troops with films of the game. Most of the rest of the OSU coaching staff remained in Los Angeles to attend sessions of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the American Football Coaches Association. Meanwhile, thousands of Buckeye fans who attended the game arrived at Port Columbus aboard chartered flights Thursday. In all, 36 special flights were scheduled in here from the coast through Saturday. INTRODUCING THE WEEKEND SHOE YOUR WIFE MIGHT COME TO HATE

Land Rover by Thom McAn

Husbands of America, help is here. Thom McAn has designed a shoe that asserts your rights. Leaves man-sized tracks. Looks terrible behind an apron. It's Thom McAn's new Land Rover — a work shoe for guys who work for fun. A shoe for outdoor types — and indoor sports. The deep-lined glove leather upper, the light but massive sole, the loop/hook speed lacing come from Thom McAn's famous work shoes. The style is strictly the casual, sporting look of the ski lodge. Rugged, but class. Swagger a little. In Land Rovers, it'll look good. $16.99 HEADQUARTERS FOR THOM McAN SHOES FOR MEN & BOYS S&S Shoe Store YOUR STORE OF SAVINGS Open Mon. & Thurs. 'Til 8:30 P. # Kansas Used 12 Players For Four Plays In Bowl

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — An assistant football coach for Kansas was quoted today as saying he believes the Jayhawks had 12 men on the field for three plays in addition to the one that cost them a 15-14 Orange Bowl defeat by Penn State.

Dave McLain, linebacking coach, was quoted by sports writer Charlie Smith in today's edition of the Topeka Daily Capital. McLain said he reached his conclusion after watching a videotape replay of the game.

"It's no wonder we were able to stop them for two plays,"

McLain said. "That 6-3-3 defense is pretty tough to run against."

Kansas appeared to have the game won, 14-13, when a two-point conversion attempt by Penn State failed. But Kansas was penalized for having 12 men on the field. Penn State tried again with 15 seconds left. Halfback Bob Campbell of the Nittany Lions slashed into the end zone for two points and the victory.

McLain said this is what happened before the conversion: Tackles Jim Bailey and Orville Turgeon were sent into the game for Kansas following a 47-yard pass to the three-yard line that set up the touchdown. They were supposed to replace safety Tommy Anderson and linebacker Rick Abernathy.

Anderson left the field, Abernathy did not.

Penn State ran two plays. Then quarterback Chuck Burkhardt skirted end for the touchdown. Counting the touchdown play and the unsuccessful conversion attempt, that made four plays.

The penalty moved the ball from the three to the one and a half yard line. Then Abernathy left the game.

McLain said, "When you go into the game, you're liable to yell 'Abernathy out' from 10 yards away and maybe he didn't hear." Abernathy said later:

"We were in a defense which calls for three linebackers. I counted three heads and decided I was going to stay. Nobody tapped me to come out. How can you live something like this down? You feel embarrassed. You feel responsible. You don't care what the people in the stands think. You care about what the players think. That's the hardest thing."

Snubbed For Award

Beamon Says Long Jump Improvement Possible

By RON RAPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — What do you do if you're a track athlete who has advanced his event to the year 2,001? If you're Bob Beamon, you try for about 2.069.

When Beamon long jumped 29 feet, 2 1/2 inches at the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October, he broke the world record by nearly two feet, a performance considered the greatest in the history of track and field by those who measure such things.

At the time, it was said that the lithe, 22-year-old athlete had set the event ahead by a generation, that probably no one would jump that far again for years, but Beamon disagrees.

"I think I can do it again," he said Thursday as he arrived here for the Examiner All-American Games indoor track and field meet Saturday.

"I thought I could be better. I would like to go about 30 or 31 feet."

Right now, though, he is more interested in pushing his world indoor record of 27-2 1/2 beyond the 28-foot limit.

Beamon said he has not done any training for the long jump since the Olympics, but has played some basketball and may join the Texas-El Paso team for a few games when he enrolls there again later this month.

Beamon said he felt bad about not being nominated for the Sullivan Award, which is annually given by the Amateur Athletic Union to the top amateur athlete of the year.

Committees of the AAU nominate three athletes from various sections of the country and newsmen vote on the final winner on the basis of performance and sportsmanship.

Surprise was expressed in some quarters when Beamon, world and Olympic champion Lee Evans and Tommie Smith and football star O.J. Simpson were not nominated.

In New York, Olan Cassell, the AAU's director of track and field, said a mistake had been made and that Beamon "definitely" was nominated for 1968. I don't know where he got the idea he hadn't been nominated.

"I don't think the ballots have even gone out yet. But if his name isn't on them, it's a printer's error."

However, several sports writers across the country reported receiving ballots and accompanying biographical notes on the nominees Thursday. Beamon's name did not appear on either.

Bullets Place Three

Johnson, Reed, Greer Added To NBA Star List

NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Bullets, now leading the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association after finishing at the bottom last season, have placed the maximum three players on the division's team for the All-Star Game at Baltimore Jan. 14.

Forward Gus Johnson of the Bullets, center-forward Willis Reed of the New York Knicks, and guards Hal Greer of Philadelphia and Jon McGlocklin of Milwaukee, were named to the All-Star team today.

They were the selections of the coaches. The first eight players of the 12-man squad were picked by sports writers and sportscasters in the franchise cities.

The last four players for the West's squad will be announced Saturday night.

Originally picked for the East were guard Earl Monroe and center Wes Unseld of Baltimore, forward Jerry Lucas and guard Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, forward John Havlicek and center Bill Russell of Boston, and guard Dave Bing of Detroit and forward Bill Cunningham of Philadelphia.

Unseld, a rookie, and Monroe, McGlocklin and Cunningham will play in the All-Star Game for the first time.

The East will be coached by Baltimore's Gene Shue. His starting team, on the basis of the voting, will be Lucas, Havlicek, Russell, Monroe and Robertson.

It will be the ninth consecutive All-Star Game for Greer, the Most Valuable Player in the East's 144-124 victory last year.

18 Named For Malibu Stakes Race

By The Associated Press As many as 18 4-year-olds may go to the post Saturday to try and join some illustrious predecessors as winners of the $40,000-added Malibu Stakes at Santa Anita.

The seven-furlong race has been won the past two times by the reigning Horse of the Year — Buckpasser in 1967 and Damascus a year ago.

Dr. Fager, 1968's top thoroughbred, will not be in the field, but several prominent 3-year-olds of last year will. They include William Haggin's Perry Dewan, W.R. Hawn's Poleax and Mrs. Montgomery Fisher's Proper Proof.

Other probable starters include Brunswick Farm's Te Vega, Frank McMahon's Baffle and Mrs. Connie M. Ring's Broad Shadows.

At Tropical Park, 25 horses have been nominated for the $20,000 Orange Bowl Handicap, a race over 1-1/4 miles for 3-year-olds and up, which is the final major prep for the $50,000 Tropical Park Handicap Jan. 16.

Among the nominees are three past winners of the $15,000 City of Miami Beach Handicap — Rehabilitate, 1965; Fort Drum, 1966, and Subpet, 1967.

Miami Downs Kentucky

Denver Remains Hot, Tops Hapless Houston

By The Associated Press The Denver Rockets continue to stay within hailing distance of Oakland in the American Basketball Association's Western Division race.

The Rockets downed hapless Houston 120-102 Thursday night and sliced into Oakland's lead to 7 1/2 games. In other action, Miami beat Kentucky 110-106 and New Orleans nipped Los Angeles 112-111 in overtime.

Jeff Congdon, a substitute, ignited the fourth-quarter rally that sent Denver to its 14th victory in 16 home games. The former Brigham Young star hit a field goal and then stole the ball and made a perfect pass for another basket that shook the Rockets loose from an 83-83 tie.

Willie Murrell scored 23 of his 29 points in the second half as Miami rallied to beat Kentucky 24.

and move into a virtual tie with the Colonels for second place in the Eastern Division. Kentucky's Darel Carrier took scoring honors with 30 points but the Colonels had only eight men in uniform and had to play cautiously.

New Orleans rebounded from an eight-point halftime deficit to edge Los Angeles. Jimmy Jones tied it in regulation time at 98-98 with two free throws and Mike Butler's made two more in overtime to cement the triumph.

Butler's pair gave the Bucs a four-point lead with seconds to go and offset a three-point field goal by LA's Larry Miller. Steve Jones paced the winners with 31 points while Red Robbins added 25 and Jimmy Jones 24.

Hambone Williams Natural As Cager

By LEE MUELLER NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK — (NEA)—This is not a story about grim dedication to a purpose, sweat, sacrifice and finally success. Not at all. Shucks, Hambone Williams never sweated anything—not much anyway.

Growing up around San Diego, he acquired a reputation as a pretty loosey-goosey guy — hence the nickname Hambone, or, as close friends call him, Bones.

Two years ago, Art (Bones) Hambone, etc.) Williams was earning about $100 a week working at the Convar shipping department in San Diego. He was 27 years old, married and going nowhere at an incredible speed.

These days, however, Williams plays guard for the San Diego Rockets. Coach Jack McMahon thinks he may be the best passer in the National Basketball Association, if not the world. Now Bones Williams makes considerably more than $100 a week.

The events that transpired to bring Art Williams to the threshold of stardom in the NBA are slightly confused in everyone's mind except Hambone's. It has all been very clear to him.

After graduating from high school, Williams spent one year at California Poly (Pomona), then quit and got married. The next four or five years were filled with idle admiration of Oscar Robertson and Wilt Chamberlain and work at various factories.

The closest he came to the NBA were daydreams.

Night brought temporary relief. He played basketball for a factory team and an occasional AAU outfit. He was comfortable there, he said, because it felt natural.

Two years ago, former NBA great Arnie Risen — who had known Williams about 10 years — wrote Bones a note, asking him to come down to San Diego's rookie camp and try out. Bones had no second thoughts as he packed his toothbrush and sneakers.

"I was pretty confident," Williams recalled. "I'd watched the other guys play and I thought I could make it. Basketball just comes natural to me, I guess."

McMahon still laughs about it. "He just dropped into camp," McMahon said. "It was our lucky day, I guess. It's hard to find guys like that. He can make the pass and he breaks down the press. His shootin' improved, too."

Williams, a lithe 6-foot-1, 185-pounder, now starts on a team that promises to challenge the NBA's Western Division leaders rather firmly. A fellow named Elvin Hayes is one reason. Williams is another.

"I only do as the coach says," Bones says, grinning at McMahon.

Terry Zaplata Takes 5 Wins In Shooting

Terry Zaplata walked off with most of the honors at Wednesday night's Columbiana County Fish and Game Association trap shoot on the club grounds.

Zaplata took first honors in three shoots. Ken Ueslton and Dave Peterson each captured one shoot. Zaplata and Ueslton also won one shoot-off each.

Ueslton also captured five redbird shoots. Ray Thompson got four. Cletus Glazebrook two and Jack White one.

The next shoot will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the club grounds on Elkton Road.

Hambone Williams

hon nearby. "He says don't put the ball down, hit the open man."

Although he still lacks Robertson's shooting touch, Williams' ball handling is particularly reminiscent of the Big O's. "I've never tried to copy any one player," Bones says. "I always like the way 'O' played."

Williams runs constantly. "I very seldom get tired," he says. "I like to play and I like to run. I figure if I can get my guy tired enough, I'll get myself a layup. I gamble a lot. With 'E' out there, I can go all out for the ball and not worry."

Bones, in fact, doesn't worry much about anything these days. He's playing basketball, he says. What could be more natural?

Junior Editors Quiz on BIG DIPPER

QUESTION: What makes the big dipper appear at different angles in the sky?

ANSWER: Study the diagram at lower left and you will realize that the earth continually spins from west to east on its axis, an imaginary line going through the earth from the South to the North Pole. It is represented in the drawing by a peg with a pointer on top. Notice that the pointer points in the direction of a star higher up. This is Polaris, the North Star. The axis of the earth is always pointing towards this star, which is actually a great deal further from the earth than it looks here. As we look heavenward on starry nights, Polaris is always there, always in the same place. But, because of the earth's continual rotation, the other stars seem to rotate very slowly around Polaris. This will show why Jimmie, in the top two pictures, sees the group of stars called the big dipper in one position, and then, a few hours later, finds it higher up in the sky, while Polaris has remained in the same place. In both positions, a line from the two outer stars of the dipper's bowl would still reach Polaris. The ancients named the constellations because of fancied resemblances to figures and animals, as in lower right.

Invokes 5th Amendment

Woman In Shooting Case Declines Most Questions

A trim, attractive brunette identified as a key figure in a shooting incident Nov. 11 in which a man was wounded critically took the Fifth Amendment today in Municipal Court when called by the prosecution in the preliminary hearing for the man identified as the pistol-wielder.

A lengthy hearing was under way before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff for Willie J. Cook, 29, of Pennsylvania Ave., accused of assault with a dangerous weapon (a .22-caliber revolver) on Walter Brenton Parson, 21, of Fairview St.

Darlene Marie Cochran, 21, of 238 W. 4th St., who allegedly was pulled out of Cook's car by Parson in an incident that triggered the shooting at E. 4th and Washington Sts., declined to answer any prosecution questions on her relationship with the two men. She said in response to one question that she is employed at Woodbine Cleaners.

TO THE REST of the questions put to her by Asst. Solicitor Robert J. Simpson, she replied: "I refuse to answer on the grounds it might tend to incriminate me." The questions related to her marital status, whether or not she knew Cook or Parson and whether or not she had seen either man on the night in question.

Simpson asked the court to excuse the witness, subject to recall. The judge commented: "I am not so sure this witness is cloaked with immunity" and declared a recess to allow him to study the law. He indicated he would announce a ruling later. When the hearing resumed, the woman was not recalled to the stand.

The prosecution alleges that Parson halted his car behind Cook's at the traffic light in front of the YMCA. It alleges he walked forward to Cook's car, pulled the young woman out of the passenger's seat and then engaged in a scuffle with Cook in which a shot was fired, wounding Parson. Police said the bullet hit Parson in the lower breast bone and penetrated diagonally into his right chest. He was a patient at City Hospital for several weeks.

While seated in the witness chair, the Cochran woman glanced toward George Aronson, an attorney seated in the jury box, as each question was put to her by the prosecutor. She gave her name, age and address, but then took the Fifth Amendment when asked if she was married. She gave the same response to all other questions except the one related to her occupation.

COOK, represented by Donald Smith, was seated at a table a few feet in front of the witness chair. He has been free on bond since shortly after the alleged shooting.

Robert W. Steffanson of Cuyahoga Falls, a construction engineer who stays part time at the YMCA, was the next witness called by the prosecution. He testified he witnessed part of the incident because he was raising the window in his room at the time.

He said he saw an eastbound red car halted at the traffic light and a green car halted about 20 feet behind it. A man got out of the green car, went forward to the red car and pulled out a girl, he said. Then a man came out of the car and the two men began to fight, he said. The two men moved out of his line of vision, he said. Steffanson said he started downstairs and heard a noise like a "pop." When he got to the street, he said, he saw the girl standing in front of the Travelers Hotel.

Steffanson said he saw "two men carrying another man."

"They said the man was hurt and they had to get him to the hospital," he said. "They asked me to move the green car to the curb." In response to a question from Smith, Steffanson said he could not distinguish faces from the YMCA window. But he said Cook returned later to the shooting scene, "driving the red car."

PARSON was the third witness called by the prosecution. Dressed in white coveralls, he gave his current address as the county jail.

Parson said he and Cook had a conversation earlier in the evening "in the poolroom." He said he left and went to the Cochran home. He had been there about 10 minutes, he said, when the woman got a call from Parson and announced that she had to leave.

Parson said he had gone to the home to talk with the woman on reports she had asserted she "would cause a ruckus between me and my wife." He said he had been married about three months and previously had dated the Cochran woman.

The woman got into Cook's car and Parson got into his auto and followed, he testified. He said he trailed the other car because he had not finished his conversation with the woman.

Parson admitted pulling the woman forcibly from the seat of the auto. He said Cook followed the woman, taking a gun from the glove compartment as he emerged. Parson said Cook struck him on the shoulder and he hit Cook in the face. He said they began to wrestle "and he told me he had shot me."

Parson said he did not know he had been shot until Cook told him. Then, he said, Cook placed him in his car and took him to the hospital.

Parson said when Cook emerged from the car: "He said 'I'll kill you, or something like that.'"

Lt. Paul A. Burson and Patrolman Bruce Conkle followed Parson to the stand, relating details of their investigation.

Cook did not take the stand in his own defense. The court then held him to the Grand Jury and continued his $1,500 bond.

Commissioner Asks Expansion Of Hamilton Unit

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Held who will take over a post on the Hamilton County Board of Commissioners Monday called Thursday for the body to be expanded to seven or nine members.

Three commissioners are not enough to represent the people of a county that now has as many people living outside as inside the city," Held said in an interview.

Held, a Republican who has spent seven years on the Cincinnati City Council, was elected in November to the board of commissioners.

Held also urged that another vote be taken on the proposed alternative form of government that would permit expansion of the board but met defeat in the November election. Commissioner Joseph L. DeCourcy Jr. has also expressed that feeling.

"We must adopt new approaches in county government if we are to meet the challenges that are upon us," Held stated.

Stressing the need for "geographic distribution" of members, Held proposed they be elected by districts instead of at large.

Children Hustled To Safety During Hospital Blaze

CRESSON, Pa. (AP) — Thirty-nine children were hustled to safety Thursday night when fire described by witnesses as "a big ball of flame" destroyed a section of a school for the mentally retarded.

State police said the children were led to another part of the Cresson State School and Hospital, about 700 feet from the blaze. No injuries were reported.

Ice-covered firemen, battling near zero temperatures and hampered by low water pressure, fought the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control. At one point, the roof caved and a wall toppled, spreading rubble from the three-story brick building over the ground.

The fire reportedly started in the upper floors of the annex but spread quickly through the sprawling complex of four interconnected buildings situated on a 16-acre tract purchased by the state in 1962.

Jefferson Plans Annual Meeting On Conservation

A program planning meeting was held today at Steubenville by supervisors of the Jefferson Soil and Water Conservation District in conjunction with the 25th annual meeting March 11.

At a recent session, Edgar Buchanan was named a delegate to the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation District meeting at Columbus Jan. 14, 15 and 16.

May 1 has been set as the deadline for conservation projects award entries. Information relative to the program has been forwarded to school principals and science and biology teachers.

May 1 also has been set as the deadline for submitting essays in the conservation essay contest open to students of the 10th grade in any accredited school in Jefferson County.

Information may be obtained from school principals or English teachers or by contacting the district conservation office at the post office in Steubenville.

$400,000 Suits In Traffic Cases Settled By Jury

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Damage suits resulting from 1964 traffic accident and totaling more than $400,000 were settled Thursday as a U.S. District Court jury deliberated the cases.

The settlement, between The Ford Motor Co. and the executors of the estates of Dr. Hildegund Nowara of Canton and her son Christopher, came after a three-week trial.

It was part of the agreement that the terms of the settlement would not be made public.

Dr. Nowara and her son were injured fatally when their Ford station wagon blew a tire and overturned while the family was traveling on a New York freeway.

The suits claimed The Ford Motor Co. had been negligent in selling an auto with a defective tire. They said that the tire, manufactured by the B.F. Goodrich Co. of Akron had been driven only 2,000 miles.

The suits were filed on behalf of Dr. Nowara's husband and two surviving sons.

Most Departments Have Ideas

Assembly Will Determine Spending Of Bond Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although most state departments have definite ideas on the subject, it will be up to the 108th General Assembly, which convenes Monday, to determine when and how funds from the $759 million bond issue will be spent.

Voters approved the bond issue Nov. 5 to provide additional funds for capital improvements.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration plans to submit to the legislature Jan. 27 its capital plan, in which it will outline priorities on proposed department projects.

The new legislature then will act on the priorities and determine final allocations. Some departments may not get as much as expected.

"Frankly, there hasn't been a bond issue passed yet in which there hasn't been a change in priorities," said Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray R-3 Piqua.

Gray said he hoped the legislature will act as early as April or May so departments can let contracts for summer construction.

The Highway Department is scheduled to receive the largest chunk of the bond issue money, $500 million. But it can spend only $100 million a year.

Director P. E. Masheter said the first $100 million probably will be spent on projects under construction and emergency programs.

Masheter said he was waiting for the legislature to decide how to distribute $250 million earmarked for cities to improve traffic bottlenecks. But he said he will recommend several formulas for distribution of the funds.

The Education Department and the Board of Regents will split $95 million for vocational, technical and higher education. Five million dollars will go for juvenile rehabilitation.

James M. Furman, the regents' executive officer, said literature promoting the bond issue indicated the Regents would get $50 million.

He said the breakdown would be $20 million for construction of technical education laboratories and $30 million to complete higher education projects initiated in 1965 after the passage of a bond issue.

Asked if he was worried that Rhodes push for a massive vocational - technical program would reduce the amount spent on higher education, Furman replied:

"No, we're not concerned. We have a commitment from the governor and the legislature."

State Finance Director Howard Collier, who is putting together the capital plan, said he would like to see a good share of the $95 million go for vocational education. But he stressed that, one way or another, the Regents "will definitely get as much as they expect."

State School Supt. Martin W. Essex indicated that the legislature's action on funds for vocational education would be influenced by recommendations of the Governor's Task Force on Vocational-Technical Education.

He said the recommendations, to be made public in a week or so, will "be a significant factor in the allocation."

The Natural Resources Department is expected to receive $120 million for water pollution and water management and $20 million for parks and recreation. A total of $19 million is earmarked for additional county airports and other state buildings, including firemen's and policemen's training academies.

Ex-Head Of Toledo Edison Co. Claimed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Carroll Proctor, 88, a former president and board chairman of the Toledo Edison Co., died Thursday night at Lake Park Hospital.

Proctor, who lived in suburban Ottawa Hills, was Toledo Edison president from 1938 to 1949. He retired from the company in 1960. He also was a former president of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce.

Camp Fire Girl News

Cookies were boxed and delivered to Greystone Rest Home No. 2 in Wellsville and carols were sung for the residents by the Lolua Camp Fire Girls Troop 3 during the recent holidays.

During their Christmas party at the home of the assistant leader, Mrs. Paulina Huyghe, the girls sang, played games and contests. Prizes were won by Debbie Scheels, Melodie Buchanan, Brenda Grodhaus and Terri Kestner. A gift exchange was held.

The group visited Ray Smith, confined at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carr of Hillcrest, and presented him with cookies. Smith was a former school bus driver.

Mrs. Joyce Grodhaus and Mrs. Florence Gotschall and Mrs. Hughes accompanied the troop.

Would Boost Taxes

Pennsylvania Panel OK's $2.5 Billion Budget Plan

HARRISBURG (AP) — A blue ribbon panel of 54 Pennsylvania civic, education and business leaders put a stamp of approval Thursday on a proposed $2.5 billion state budget and — in effect — a tax increase for the next fiscal year.

In addition, the panel, known as the Governor's Priorities Commission, laid out a tentative five-year plan for new programs that would cost the state's taxpayers some $540 million more between now and 1975.

Created nine months ago by Gov. Shafer to "establish priorities" on new state spending, the panel's report Thursday indicated its task had covered all the agencies in the state executive branch.

However, said co-chairman Dr. Jacob J. Kaufman of Pennsylvania State University, the governor's guidelines and a tight time schedule prevented them from looking into current state spending patterns.

If the commission becomes a permanent organization, he said, this would be the next step in closing "the gap between available resources and needs."

The commission report assigned "top priority" to 27 new or expended programs as "essential to the needs and well-being of (Pennsylvania's) citizens and to future economic growth."

The programs, ranging from agribusiness to welfare, total $163.2 million.

It named an additional $54.8 million in proposed programs that were not given "top priority" on the basis that new tax revenues would not exceed the $163.2 million plus another $369 million or so for "normal and mandated" increases in the budget and for a statewide teacher salary hike.

The commission pointed out that the $163.2 million represents only 48 per cent of the total amount of new or expanded programs proposed by various departmental heads.

Invokes 5th Amendment

Woman In Shooting Case Declines Most Questions

A trim, attractive brunette identified as a key figure in a shooting incident Nov. 11 in which a man was wounded critically took the Fifth Amendment today in Municipal Court when called by the prosecution in the preliminary hearing for the man identified as the pistol-wielder.

A lengthy hearing was under way before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff for Willie J. Cook, 29, of Pennsylvania Ave., accused of assault with a dangerous weapon (a .22-caliber revolver) on Walter Brenton Parson, 21, of Fairview St.

Darlene Marie Cochran, 21, of 238 W. 4th St., who allegedly was pulled out of Cook's car by Parson in an incident that triggered the shooting at E. 4th and Washington Sts., declined to answer any prosecution questions on her relationship with the two men. She said in response to one question that she is employed at Woodbine Cleaners.

TO THE REST of the questions put to her by Asst. Solicitor Robert J. Simpson, she replied: "I refuse to answer on the grounds it might tend to incriminate me." The questions related to her marital status, whether or not she knew Cook or Parson and whether or not she had seen either man on the night in question.

Simpson asked the court to excuse the witness, subject to recall. The judge commented: "I am not so sure this witness is cloaked with immunity" and declared a recess to allow him to study the law. He indicated he would announce a ruling later. When the hearing resumed, the woman was not recalled to the stand.

The prosecution alleges that Parson halted his car behind Cook's at the traffic light in front of the YMCA. It alleges he walked forward to Cook's car, pulled the young woman out of the passenger's seat and then engaged in a scuffle with Cook in which a shot was fired, wounding Parson. Police said the bullet hit Parson in the lower breast bone and penetrated diagonally into his right chest. He was a patient at City Hospital for several weeks.

While seated in the witness chair, the Cochran woman glanced toward George Aronson, an attorney seated in the jury box, as each question was put to her by the prosecutor. She gave her name, age and address, but then took the Fifth Amendment when asked if she was married. She gave the same response to all other questions except the one related to her occupation.

COOK, represented by Donald Smith, was seated at a table a few feet in front of the witness chair. He has been free on bond since shortly after the alleged shooting.

Robert W. Steffanson of Cuyahoga Falls, a construction engineer who stays part time at the YMCA, was the next witness called by the prosecution. He testified he witnessed part of the incident because he was raising the window in his room at the time.

He said he saw an eastbound red car halted at the traffic light and a green car halted about 20 feet behind it. A man got out of the green car, went forward to the red car and pulled out a girl, he said. Then a man came out of the car and the two men began to fight, he said. The two men moved out of his line of vision, he said. Steffanson said he started downstairs and heard a noise like a "pop." When he got to the street, he said, he saw the girl standing in front of the Travelers Hotel.

Steffanson said he saw "two men carrying another man." "They said the man was hurt and they had to get him to the hospital," he said. "They asked me to move the green car to the curb." In response to a question from Smith, Steffanson said he could not distinguish faces from the YMCA window. But he said Cook returned later to the shooting scene, "driving the red car."

PARSON was the third witness called by the prosecution. Dressed in white coveralls, he gave his current address as the county jail.

Parson said he and Cook had a conversation earlier in the evening "in the poolroom." He said he left and went to the Cochran home. He had been there about 10 minutes, he said, when the woman got a call from Parson and announced that she had to leave.

Parson said he had gone to the home to talk with the woman on reports she had asserted she "would cause a ruckus between me and my wife." He said he had been married about three months and previously had dated the Cochran woman.

The woman got into Cook's car and Parson got into his auto and followed, he testified. He said he trailed the other car because he had not finished his conversation with the woman. Parson admitted pulling the woman forcibly from the seat of the auto. He said Cook followed the woman, taking a gun from the glove compartment as he emerged. Parson said Cook struck him on the shoulder and he hit Cook in the face. He said they began to wrestle "and he told me he had shot me."

Parson said he did not know he had been shot until Cook told him. Then, he said, Cook placed him in his car and took him to the hospital.

Parson said when Cook emerged from the car: "He said 'I'll kill you, or something like that'."

Lt. Paul A. Burson and Patrolman Bruce Conkle followed Parson to the stand, relating details of their investigation.

Cook did not take the stand in his own defense. The court then held him to the Grand Jury and continued his $1,500 bond.

Commissioner Asks Expansion Of Hamilton Unit

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Held who will take over a post on the Hamilton County Board of Commissioners Monday called Thursday for the body to be expanded to seven or nine members.

Three commissioners are not enough to represent the people of a county that now has as many people living outside as inside the city," Held said in an interview.

Held, a Republican who has spent seven years on the Cincinnati City Council, was elected in November to the board of commissioners.

Held also urged that another vote be taken on the proposed alternative form of government that would permit expansion of the board but met defeat in the November election. Commissioner Joseph L. DeCourcy Jr. has also expressed that feeling.

"We must adopt new approaches in county government if we are to meet the challenges that are upon us," Held stated.

Stressing the need for "geographic distribution" of members, Held proposed they be elected by districts instead of at large.

Children Hustled To Safety During Hospital Blaze

CRESSON, Pa. (AP) — Thirty-nine children were hustled to safety Thursday night when fire described by witnesses as "a big ball of flame" destroyed a section of a school for the mentally retarded.

State police said the children were led to another part of the Cresson State School and Hospital, about 700 feet from the blaze. No injuries were reported.

Ice-covered firemen, battling near zero temperatures and hampered by low water pressure, fought the blaze for two hours before bringing it under control. At one point, the roof caved and a wall toppled, spreading rubble from the three-story brick building over the ground.

The fire reportedly started in the upper floors of the annex but spread quickly through the sprawling complex of four interconnected buildings situated on a 16-acre tract purchased by the state in 1962.

Jefferson Plans Annual Meeting On Conservation

A program planning meeting was held today at Steubenville by supervisors of the Jefferson Soil and Water Conservation District in conjunction with the 25th annual meeting March 11.

At a recent session, Edgar Buchanan was named a delegate to the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation District meeting at Columbus Jan. 14, 15 and 16.

May 1 has been set as the deadline for conservation projects award entries. Information relative to the program has been forwarded to school principals and science and biology teachers.

May 1 also has been set as the deadline for submitting essays in the conservation essay contest open to students of the 10th grade in any accredited school in Jefferson County.

Information may be obtained from school principals or English teachers or by contacting the district conservation office at the post office in Steubenville.

$400,000 Suits In Traffic Cases Settled By Jury

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Damage suits resulting from 1964 traffic accident and totaling more than $400,000 were settled Thursday as a U.S. District Court jury deliberated the cases.

The settlement, between The Ford Motor Co. and the executors of the estates of Dr. Hildegund Nowara of Canton and her son Christopher, came after a three-week trial.

It was part of the agreement that the terms of the settlement would not be made public. Dr. Nowara and her son were injured fatally when their Ford station wagon blew a tire and overturned while the family was traveling on a New York freeway.

The suits claimed The Ford Motor Co. had been negligent in selling an auto with a defective tire. They said that the tire, manufactured by the B.F. Goodrich Co. of Akron had been driven only 2,000 miles.

The suits were filed on behalf of Dr. Nowara's husband and two surviving sons.

Most Departments Have Ideas

Assembly Will Determine Spending Of Bond Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Although most state departments have definite ideas on the subject, it will be up to the 108th General Assembly, which convenes Monday, to determine when and how funds from the $759 million bond issue will be spent.

Voters approved the bond issue Nov. 5 to provide additional funds for capital improvements.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration plans to submit to the legislature Jan. 27 its capital plan, in which it will outline priorities on proposed department projects.

The new legislature then will act on the priorities and determine final allocations. Some departments may not get as much as expected.

"Frankly, there hasn't been a bond issue passed yet in which there hasn't been a change in priorities," said Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray R-3 Piqua.

Gray said he hoped the legislature will act as early as April or May so departments can let contracts for summer construction.

The Highway Department is scheduled to receive the largest chunk of the bond issue money, $500 million. But it can spend only $100 million a year.

Director P. E. Masheter said the first $100 million probably will be spent on projects under construction and emergency programs.

Masheter said he was waiting for the legislature to decide how to distribute $250 million earmarked for cities to improve traffic bottlenecks. But he said he will recommend several formulas for distribution of the funds.

The Education Department and the Board of Regents will split $95 million for vocational, technical and higher education. Five million dollars will go for juvenile rehabilitation.

James M. Furman, the regents' executive officer, said literature promoting the bond issue indicated the Regents would get $50 million.

He said the breakdown would be $20 million for construction of technical education laboratories and $30 million to complete higher education projects initiated in 1965 after the passage of a bond issue.

Asked if he were worried that Rhodes push for a massive vocational - technical program would reduce the amount spent on higher education, Furman replied:

"No, we're not concerned. We have a commitment from the governor and the legislature."

State Finance Director Howard Collier, who is putting together the capital plan, said he would like to see a good share of the $95 million go for vocational education. But he stressed that, one way or another, the Regents "will definitely get as much as they expect."

State School Supt. Martin W. Essex indicated that the legislature's action on funds for vocational education would be influenced by recommendations of the Governor's Task Force on Vocational-Technical Education.

He said the recommendations, to be made public in a week or so, will "be a significant factor in the allocation."

The Natural Resources Department is expected to receive $120 million for water pollution and water management and $20 million for parks and recreation. A total of $19 million is earmarked for additional county airports and other state buildings, including firemen's and policemen's training academies.

Would Boost Taxes

Pennsylvania Panel OK's $2.5 Billion Budget Plan

HARRISBURG (AP)—A blue ribbon panel of 54 Pennsylvania civic, education and business leaders put a stamp of approval Thursday on a proposed $2.5 billion state budget and — in effect — a tax increase for the next fiscal year.

In addition, the panel, known as the Governor's Priorities Commission, laid out a tentative five-year plan for new programs that would cost the state's taxpayers some $540 million more between now and 1975.

Created nine months ago by Gov. Shafer to "establish priorities" on new state spending, the panel's report Thursday indicated its task had covered all the agencies in the state executive branch.

However, said co-chairman Dr. Jacob J. Kaufman of Pennsylvania State University, the governor's guidelines and a tight time schedule prevented them from looking into current state spending patterns.

If the commission becomes a permanent organization, he said, this would be the next step in closing "the gap between available resources and needs."

The commission report assigned "top priority" to 27 new or expended programs as "essential to the needs and well-being of (Pennsylvania's) citizens and to future economic growth."

The programs, ranging from agribusiness to welfare, total $163.2 million.

It named an additional $54.8 million in proposed programs that were not given "top priority" on the basis that new tax revenues would not exceed the $163.2 million plus another $369 million or so for "normal and mandated" increases in the budget and for a statewide teacher salary hike.

The commission pointed out that the $163.2 million represents only 48 per cent of the total amount of new or expanded programs proposed by various departmental heads.
